2,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND ELM PLANTING RITES

United States Senator Frank B. Willis To Speak at Tomb Friday

LUNCHEON PLANNED

Columbus Daughters of American Revolution in Charge of Program

More than 2,000 members of the Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution Chapters are expected to be in Marion tomorrow to attend the services in connection with the planting and dedication of an American Elm on the Harding Memorial Tomb site.

The services have been arranged under the auspices of the Columbus chapter, which will send a large delegation here for the services. The program in connection with the planting and dedication will start at 1:30 o'clock.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Delaware, will deliver the principal address. The tablet to designate the Columbus chapter tree will be unveiled by Mrs. Herbert Baccus, of Columbus, state regent of the organization. Prayer will be offered by Rev. Edward A. Krapp, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Columbus.

Plan Luncheon

Preceding the services at the tomb site delegations from Columbus, Delaware and other nearby cities will meet at Hotel Harding at noon for a luncheon. No program has been arranged for the luncheon, it was announced today.

It is expected that other chapters of this organization will hold similar tree planting and dedication exercises later on.

This service will be the largest that has been arranged on the site of the Harding memorial since last Memorial Day when close to 25,000 persons from all over Ohio and adjoining states gathered in this city for the memorial cornerstone laying service. Many notables, including Vice President Dawes, who acted as the principal speaker and laid the cornerstone, attended.

While no definite plans have been made it has been proposed that the dedication of the memorial be scheduled for next Memorial Day. It is expected that work on the structure and the landscaping of the site will be completed by that time.

DONAHEY TREATED TO "CHUCK WAGON" FEED

Rodeo Cowboys Ride Ponies Upstairs to Statehouse Rotunda

Columbus, May 26—Gov. Vic Donahey enjoyed "chuck wagon" breakfast, consisting of flapjacks and black coffee, on the state house campus here this forenoon.

The meal featured a visit to the statehouse by a group of western cowboys who came to participate in a stampede and rodeo opening at the state fairgrounds Friday.

All wearing their picturesque cowboy costumes, some astride their horses and others riding in the chuck wagon, the visitors went to the statehouse where they were greeted by the governor.

The cowboys set up a "western camp" on the campus at the north side of the state house where the governor inspected the horses and ate the flapjacks, fried on the camp stove, and drank the coffee served piping hot.

Swinging lassos and "whoopees" of the cowboys attracted a large crowd of onlookers.

A number of the cowboys rode their horses up the stone steps into the north end of the state house. Some succeeded in reaching the rotunda. One horse fell on the second flight of steps, but apparently was unhurt.

TRANSFER FUNDS

State Office Employes Are Assured of Pay

Columbus, May 26—Payment of salaries of state officials and employes, approximating $500,000, due at the end of this month, was assured today when the state emergency board authorized transfer of $400,000 from the state institutional building fund and a similar amount from the state manufacturing and sales rotary fund to the state's general revenue fund.

The balance left after paying state officials and employes, it was stated, will be used in meeting various obligations against the state. Because Monday is Memorial Day, state officials and employes will be paid Friday, it was announced.

SAWS USED IN JAIL DELIVERY PLOT NOT FOUND

Sheriff Taking No Chances; Places Prisoners in Solitary Cells

Mysterious disappearance of the saws and other implements used by prisoners at the county jail in their attempt to escape, Tuesday night, remains unsolved.

Sheriff Deal and his deputies have made a thorough search of the jail premises without uncovering any trace of the tools, it was stated at Deal's office today.

The saws were probably small and could easily be hidden, the sheriff says, and it is probable that considerable difficulty will be experienced in finding them unless some of the prisoners can be induced to furnish information to clear up the mystery.

No Further Danger

There is no danger of any further attempt at a jail break, the sheriff says, as all of the prisoners are now securely held in solitary confinement and are being kept under the closest supervision possible. They are permitted to see no visitors excepting their attorneys.

There were 10 men in the jail when the plot to escape was frustrated by the sheriff and his deputies after they had been warned by a mysterious telephone call from an unknown man.

Three of the 10 were removed from the jail yesterday, two being taken to the Mansfield reformatory and one to the penitentiary at Columbus.

Believe Plot Timed

The plot had seemingly been timed so that the escape would have taken place in time to save these three from serving their prison terms.

Mike Dye, 27, Detroit negro bandit sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for participation in an attempted holdup at the R. L. Goetting grocery on Lee-st, is now safe behind the state prison bars. He was taken to the penitentiary by Sherif Deal with J. A. Reed as an extra guard.

Deputy Sheriff George W. Deal, accompanied by Harold Monnett, as an extra guard, took Pearl McAdams and Lesie J. West, alias John Walker, to the Mansfield reformatory. Both of these men pleaded guilty. McAdams to the charge of auto stealing and West to passing a check drawn on a bank where he had no funds. West was also indicted on a forgery charge.

Two Youths, 15, and Three 16, to Finish High School Courses Here This Year

Boys Carry Away All Honors for Completing 12 Years of Work Ahead of Schedule; Two Members of National Honorary Society

Two 15-year-old and three 16-year-old graduates, all boys, is the unusual record of the Senior class of Harding High School this year. The average graduate is 17 or 18 years old, often older, as children ordinarily begin their 12 years of school life at the age of six. Lyle Holverstott, 15; Marvin Rife, 15; Robert C. Annen, 16; Richard Kennedy, 16, and Felix C. Reber, 16, the youngest of the senior class of 239 students, have reached the fulfillment of their school days by diligent study, enabling them to omit one or more grades of school, interviews with their respective parents showed today.

Only one other year in the history of the school was such an unusual record been made and that last year when Frederick Smith, now a student at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, and a son of Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Smith, 739 E. Church-st, graduated at the age of 14.

Youngest of Group

Lyle Holverstott, the youngest of the group, was born Oct. 5, 1911 and began his student career when he was six years old, completing the first, second and third grade studies in his first year of school. He began his schooling in a one-room building east of the city. He will graduate in the classical course, is assistant editor of the Quiver, high school paper, is a member of the Press Club, Ye Merrie Players Club, Roman Senate, honorary school societies, and is planning to take up journalism when he enters college in a year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Holverstott, 253 S. Seffner-av.

Marvin Rife

Marvin Rife, also 15, will graduate in the scientific course having attained the highest honors of the school by being admitted a member of National Honorary Society. He is interested in theology and plans to study ministry at Wooster College. He is humor editor on the Quiver staff, a member of Press Club, and Ye Merrie Players. He graduates when only 15 years old as his excellent grade school work permitted him to omit half of the fifth grade, half of the sixth and all of the eighth. He started to school at the Mark Street Building when he was six years old. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Rife, 155 Superior-st. His birthday falls on Aug. 12, at which time he will be 16.

LINER IN COLLISION IS BEING TOWED IN

Boiler Rooms of Malolo Flooded; Swift Vessel on Maiden Trip

New York, May 26—With her boiler rooms flooded from the hole gashed in the collision with the freighter Jacob Christensen, the Matson liner Malolo, swiftest deluxe passenger ship ever built in American shipyards, today was being towed to New York where she will arrive Saturday.

The liner's bulkheads are holding, according to word received here today by officials of the line. The Malolo was on her trial run when a fog caused the crash.

The Malolo will be placed in drydock here and after temporary repairs will be returned to the Champ shipyard at Philadelphia, where she was built, for reclamation.

The Malolo's wireless operator stated that the giant liner had a hole punctured over the fire room and that two of her engines were disabled. Firemen had been standing in four feet of water.

The Christensen, a Norwegian freighter, with a punctured bow, proceeded to New York under her own steam, with the steamship Fisher as escort.

The Malolo wirelessed the steamship Rotterdam "no assistance needed." Tuggers were near to tow her to New York. The Malolo was anchored in latitude 40.29 north; longitude 70.13 west.

Several wealthy and prominent men from New York and Philadelphia were guests aboard the Malolo which was making its maiden flight.

A complete description of the new model will be given within the next few weeks, it was stated.

The company will continue to manufacture parts for the present Model T, the announcement continues.

The new car will cost more to manufacture, but it will be more economical to operate, according to the announcement.

REGULAR AIR SERVICE HOPE OF LINDBERGH

American Youth Still Modest Despite Tremendous Reception for Him

London, May 25—King George will receive Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh in audience on Monday, it was announced officially today.

The king's reception is expected to be informal and it is believed that the prince of Wales will be present and the American youth will be invited to join with the monarch in an informal chat about aviation.

London is preparing to make Lindbergh's visit a gala occasion.

Paris, May 26—A regular air service between France and the United States, was the hope expressed by Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh today in a speech at the city hall, where he had been given an official welcome.

"I am unable to express my appreciation of the honors you have conferred upon me and my country," said Lindbergh in replying to the official speeches of welcome.

"I have one desire and that is that my flight may be the forerunner of a regular air service between France and the United States and an understanding such as has never existed before.

Makes Great Impression

"That is my hope today. My greatest desire, I am sure, would have been the greatest desire of Captains Nungesser and Coli."

Lindbergh's speech, while delivered in his usual shy boyish manner, made a

$100,000 MAY BE OFFERED IN PRIZE MONEY

Honolulu, Manila, Australia and Tokio Possible Ends in Non-Stop Trips

TWO FLIERS PLAN HOPS

Pacific Coast Cities Clamor for Honor of Being Starting Point

San Francisco, May 26—An air race across the Pacific will be the next thrill given the world by aviation.

Prospects today were that a pot of gold, so large that it will attract the leading aviators of the world, will await the successful flier who follows the setting sun.

With $35,000 in prize money awaiting the first fliers to make the initial hop to Honolulu, movements were under way today to add additional sums for successful flights to Manila, Australia and the Orient that may total $100,000 or more.

Rivalry Keen

Rivalry among Pacific Coast cities for the honor of being the starting point of the epochal flight was apparent today.

James D. Dole, Hawaiian pineapple king, who offers $25,000 for the first non-stop flight to Honolulu and $10,000 for the second, "to make it more of a sporting proposition," will permit the aviator to select his own hopping-off point. San Francisco will seek the honor, pointing out that the nearly successful hop of the late Commander John Rodgers started from this port. Los Angeles and San Diego will claim the honor also, both claiming advantages in a start from their ports.

Giles Plans Hop

Seattle is anxious to be the starting point for the flight to the Orient and is already raising a fund to reward the first flier to make the hop from that point. Meanwhile, Capt. Frederick A. Giles, Australian aviator, is proceeding with plans for a hop from Vancouver, B. C., to Australia.

Definite rules for competition in the Dole flight are expected to be laid down following his conference in the east with National Aeronautical association officials. His purpose is to bring Honolulu closer to the mainland by demonstrating the practicability of such flights.

$30,000 FOR TOKIO NON-STOP FLIGHT

Los Angeles, May 26—A $30,000 prize will be given the first American pilot to fly from Los Angeles to Tokio, Japan, Sid Grauman, motion picture theater owner, announced today. Grauman stated he and his associates had posted the money with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

ISLAND FLIER TO ATTEMPT FLIGHT

Honolulu, May 26—Announcing his intention of attempting a flight from the Pacific Coast to Hawaii, Martin Jensen, inter-island flier, prepared today to leave for California the latter part of the week.

Jensen may use the type of plane Captain Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic. He sent a cable message to the Ryan Airplane Co., of San Diego, makers of Lindbergh's ship, asking if the San Diego company could have a 36-foot monoplane ready by the starting date.

Announcement of the $35,000 flight has quickened interest in aviation in the islands. It is discussed everywhere. The territorial department of public works authorizing grading and other improvements of the John Rodgers Airport, just outside of Honolulu, to prepare the flying field for the flight.

LINDBERGH'S QUIET DETERMINATION IN HIS BOYHOOD LAID FOUNDATION FOR SUCCESS, HIS MOTHER BELIEVES

Incidents in Captain Charles A. Lindbergh's youth as seen by the artist.

[This is the second of ten installments on the life of Charles A. Lindbergh, as told exclusively to Miss Bonita Witt by Mrs. Eva Evangeline L. Lindbergh, the mother of the young New York-Paris aviator.]

By BONITA WITT

(Copyright, 1927, by Central Press Co.)

II.

CHARLES LINDBERGH'S modesty and his gentlemanly way of conducting himself under the strain preparatory to his flight and his behavior in Paris are not surprising to his mother. She recalls that he always has been quiet, unassuming, purposeful. He never made a fuss about doing things. If Charles got an idea that he decided ought to be carried out he set about the task without much talk or excitement. Just made up his mind—then went ahead and did it.

MISS BONITA WITT

Even as a child Lindbergh was methodical and careful. "Charles isn't the 'flying fool' or 'dare-devil' folks think him," says his mother. "He never does things on impulse. He always has a very good reason for doing a thing and he plans his moves most carefully.

"I am not going to tell you that Charles was a model child or a goody goody, because he wasn't. He got in and out of more scrapes than I can tell. Really it wouldn't do to print them. Once he dropped a cat from our upstairs porch to the ground to see whether it really would land on its feet. However, in looking backward I can't recall a single thing my boy ever did that was to his discredit.

"Is my boy perfect?"

Again Mrs. Lindbergh smiles. "I think he's as fine as any boy could be—but you see I'm prejudiced.

"Charles always was a mischievous child. I'm of Irish descent and his father was born in Sweden. Some of his ancestors were English. A queer mixture and hard to beat!"

There's a cherished picture at Mrs. Lindbergh's home in Detroit, showing Charles, a tow-headed youngster of four sitting at the edge of the steps of the porch, warily pulling the family cat toward him, his fist, firmly clutching the protesting animal's tail. Young Charles didn't have a grievance against the cat. No, indeed, he and pussy were the best of friends. He merely wanted to see how far he could go without getting scratched!

He invariably craved "to see how far he could go." And that, perhaps, is what led him on to the greatest flight in the world's history!

(To be continued tomorrow)

This Is the Big Story of the Day!

EVERYONE wants to read the story of the hero-flyer, Charles A. Lindbergh, from the lips of his mother, told in easily readable manner.

Here one finds human interest touches and traits revealed, delightful little stories and new facts that, in the first blast of the news of triumph, have remained hidden till now.

Here not only is the story of the day, but one that should be kept for grandchildren and their children to read.

This story of the young man whom nations through all the world are honoring—this story of him as seen through his mother's eyes—becomes a historic document.

The Star takes pride in presenting it.

APPROVES CHILDREN'S BUREAU

The General Council of the League of Women Voters visited the Children's Bureau at its recent meeting in Washington. The Council expressed its unqualified approval of the "able administration of the entire bureau" which it regards as "one of the most successful demonstrations of the functioning of the government in the interest of general welfare."

BUCYRUS RAIL TEAMS AMONG LINE LEADERS

Bucyrus athletic teams rank among the leaders on the Ohio Central Lines. Two of the teams have received extraordinary mention in the New York Central Magazine and a women's bowling team has gained the honor of having its group picture reproduced in the currency issue of that magazine.

Organized last year for the first time in history of the Bucyrus Athletic Association, the bowling team won the championship of the Bucyrus Industrial League. In the picture shown in the magazine are Clara Schaeka, Olivia Kling, Edith Kramer, Ruby Ridgeway, Nina Leonard, and Iona Hufnagle.

The Bucyrus N. Y. C. baseball team is expected to make a name for itself in railroad athletic circles this season. Following is its schedule, dating from June 4:

June 4—Columbus, there
June 11—Toledo at Bucyrus
June 25—Charleston, there
July 9—Hobson at Bucyrus
July 16—Columbus at Bucyrus.
July 23—Toledo, there.

Railmen Retired

John Raynor, well-known on the Ohio Central lines and also popular in local railroad circles, has been retired at Ridgeway, where he was employed as a section foreman. Mr. Raynor began work on the railroad in Bowling Green in 1886. He has been employed at Kenton and has worked in this locality during his service.

New Service

Operated by the New York Central over the Ohio Central Lines, improved passenger service from Detroit and Toledo to Columbus and Charleston, through Kenton and Marysville, has been inaugurated. Three new daily trains have been put into service.

Southbound, one of the three trains goes through to Charleston, the other two ending their runs at Columbus. Northbound, one train starts at Charleston and goes as far as Toledo. The other two start at Columbus and go to Detroit.

Know thyself—and you won't be so "up and rearing" to reform others.

These are the essentials in good clothes making--the things you look for when buying. What more do you find in high priced clothes?

If you, perhaps, still judge Richman's Clothes by what is ordinarily offered at the Richman price, we ask that you walk into a Richman store, tomorrow, and judge these clothes on merit, alone—subject them to any test you apply to higher priced clothes.

THREE HARDING HIGH INSTRUCTORS RETURN

Vocational Department Teachers Attend Convention in Cincinnati

L. H. Rieker, C. H. Rensch and R. A. Todd have returned home from Cincinnati, where last Friday they attended the annual state convention of vocational instructors. They represented the vocational department of Harding High School, where they are instructors.

In connection with the convention program, they visited various schools and industries, heard talks along educational lines and illustrated lectures by instructors in the trade schools. They also attended the National Foreman's Club meeting, at the Zoological Gardens there the same time. Many vocational instructors are also members of that organization, success in vocational work hinging largely on the co-operation of foremen, eventually at the head of graduates of vocational schools.

TAPLIN FIGHTING TO RETAIN ROAD CONTROL

Declares Other Lines Illegally Acquired Stock in Wheeling and Lake Erie

Cleveland, May 26—Declaring that the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, and Nickel Plate roads had illegally acquired stock in the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad, representatives of the Frank E. Taplin interests, today had forwarded a protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission as the first step in a fight to retain control of the line.

The protest was drawn up at the annual stockholders meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

Following the sensational rise in Wheeling and Lake Erie, several months ago, when the stock jumped from 27½ to 130, Frank E. Taplin acquired approximately 52 per cent of the W. and L. E. shares, giving him the large individual holdings.

At the same time, according to the protest the New York Central, B. & O. and the Nickel Plate announced that each road had acquired a one-sixth interest in the Wheeling and Lake Erie and filed names of directors whom they wished to represent the respective roads on the W. and L. E. board.

In announcing their intention to bid for the controlling interest, the Taplin forces yesterday cited certain sections of the Clayton Act, which, they claim, prohibits acquisition by one carrier of stock of a competing carrier, without the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval.

The commission is expected to take action in the controversy about June 20.

NT C., D. & M. JNCTION IN SSING ISSUE

n Over Improvement man's Carried to Appeals Court skirmish in the legal warfare C., D. & M. Electric Co. the highway department over of a crossing at Newman's, north of Prospect, ended in victory for the C., D. & afternoon.

of hostilities is now trans- district Court of Appeals, on order issued by that Lima yesterday having stop- ction operations of the high- ment at the crossing.

sue Concerns Plans

troversy has been in progress years, due chiefly to differ- pinion between the traction nd the highway department plans for the crossing.

D. & M. obtained an injunc- Court of Common Pleas a year ago restraining the installing a crossing in with the highway depart- ns and on May 13 this in- as dissolved by Judge Sco-

P. Moloney, attorney for the C., D. & M., immediately gave notice of appeal and also filed a $2,500 bond fixed by Judge Scofield.

Not having been officially informed that this action kept the injunction in force, Grover C. Snyder, division engineer of the state highway department, prepared to proceed with the crossing construction.

Serve Snyder Notice

A force of men provided with all necessary equipment, including scrapers and a road roller, started work at Newman's Tuesday. The work continued until late yesterday afternoon, when Snyder was served with a notice from the Court of Appeals that a temporary injunction had been granted.

Attorney Moloney went to Lima, Tuesday, immediately after hearing that the highway department was going ahead with the crossing work, and filed application for the injunction.

Before the notice was served on Snyder, a large amount of excavating had been done and a detour established for traffic. Snyder stated this morning that he was uncertain regarding what his course of procedure would be, whether to fill in the excavations on the main roadway or allow it to remain in its present condition and continue using the detour.

State's Rights Shown

In his ruling dissolving the injunction in Common Pleas Court, Judge Scofield said that the state has the right, under the law, to construct the crossing as it sees fit as long as it does not trespass upon the C., D. & M. property. The roadway is public property and the public has prior rights and privileges, having been in possession of the right-of-way before the C., D. & M. was built, the judge stated.

The C., D. & M. says that more than a year ago it entered into a verbal agreement with the state and county in which plans for a crossing were approved by both sides. This plan provides for running the road over the tracks at a right angle. The traction company maintains that the crossing should be constructed in accordance with this agreement.

Would Cross Obliquely

The state proposes to build the crossing on a straight line running obliquely across the tracks. Judge Scofield ruled that this can be done regardless of the reported verbal agreement on the other plan.

Official notification that the Court of Appeals had granted the temporary injunction came yesterday in a telephone call from Phil M. Crow, presiding judge, to the Marion County Clerk of Courts.

RHEUMATISM HAS VANISHED SINCE HE GOT KONJOLA

Celebrated Medicine Ended Rheumatic Suffering of 4 Years, States Marion Citizen

Countless men and women of Marion and vicinity are turning to this remarkable new Konjola for relief in cases of stomach, liver, kidneys and bowel disorders and rheumatic troubles. This surprising remedy has brought such great results within a few short weeks that many grateful statements are already on record from the people of Marion who have been restored to health.

The latest indorsement came from Mr. W. E. Grubb, 345 Windsor Street, this city, a well-known citizen who gave his report in person to the Konjola Man at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, where large crowds are calling daily to find out for themselves about this celebrated compound.

"Konjola ended the rheumatism which I had been suffering over four years," said Mr. Grubb, "and I have improved in many other ways from the use of this medicine.

"My arms and back was affected with rheumatism. The joints of my elbows and shoulders were so stiff and sore that I was unable to raise my hand above my head. The muscles in my back seemed to pull and draw, causing sharp pains across my hips. When I attempted to bend over I was sure to suffer intense pains. It was impossible to sleep at nights, because these miseries stayed with me almost every hour. When I did sleep it was only in short spells.

"Well, I started taking Konjola and got relief almost at once. Then I continued with this medicine and now I can use my arms without having pains and the swelling in my elbows has gone entirely. My shoulders are not stiff and achy like they were before. I sleep good, and my appetite is better.

Legionnaires To Be Hosts To Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans at Picnic, June 19

Committee Appointed at Bird-McGinnis Post Meeting To Complete Arrangements for Affair; Many Organizations Cooperating in Movement

Children at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia are to be guests of American Legion organizations of Marion County at a picnic to be held on June 19, preliminary arrangements for the event having been made by Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, at its semi-monthly meeting held here last night.

A committee composed of Otis Harriman, Walter E. Hane and Louis Kull was appointed by L. Don Jones, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, to confer with the ladies' auxiliary of the Legion, the local branch of the "40 and 8" and other World War organizations in the county to make final arrangements. It is expected that these organizations will co-operate with Bird-McGinnis Post in planning the picnic and entertainment.

Attend Picnic Sunday

Plans for the event are the result of the report of a similar picnic given by Legion Posts of Franklin County at the Xenia Home last Sunday. Four members of Bird-McGinnis Post attended the picnic and were so impressed with its success and the pleasure which it brought to the children that they decided to urge their organization to sponsor a similar event.

Legion Posts throughout the state are expected to follow suit by entertaining different groups of the children. The picnics given thus far have been for the older boys and girls and Bird-McGinnis Post has decided to select a group of the smaller youngsters for their guests.

There are approximately 650 orphans of war veterans at the home, which is managed by Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Andrews, former Marion residents. Mr. Andrews, a former mayor of this city, gave the principal address at a local luncheon club meeting here recently in which he discussed work being done at the home.

Improvements Planned

Ages of children at the home range from three to 18 years. A program of extensive improvements at the institution is to be started soon at the institution as the result of a special appropriation having been made by the legislature. The American Legion was largely responsible for granting of the appropriation.

At the meeting last night, Bird-McGinnis Post also made final arrangements for sending a large delegation to the Central Ohio district conference to be held in Marysville, Sunday, June 5. All posts of Marion County will be represented. The conference will be held at the Marysville armory at 2 p. m., preceded by sight-seeing tour starting at 11:30 and dinner at 1 p. m.

It was also announced that a delegation from Bird-McGinnis Post will go to Caledonia next Sunday to attend memorial services and in return Caledonia World War veterans will come to Marion Monday to take part in services and hear the address of Gen. John R. McQuigg, former national Legion commander.

Prospect, LaRue Change

Prospect Post will go to LaRue Sunday, and in return LaRue Post will be in Prospect, Monday, to attend services there.

Commander Jones stated that Marion Legionnaires going to Caledonia Sunday will start at 12:15 o'clock from their meeting place in front of the Y. M. C. A. building.

All World War veterans were requested to assemble on N. Prospect-st, Monday afternoon, to take part in the Memorial Day parade.

MYSTERY CLOAKS PIGEON FOUND BY MARION MAN

Feathered Carrier Drops from Sky; Bears Peculiar Markers on Legs

A carrier pigeon bearing a metal band on one leg and a wide rubber band on the other, each marked with letters and figures and whose place of starting and destination is a mystery, is in the possession of Bain D. Emerson, Union-st.

According to Emerson the pigeon fell at his feet while he was walking on W. Center-st near the Frank Bros. store several days ago. The metal band bears the letters and figures A J 25 B 6281 and the rubber band which is folded and which was tucked far up on the birds leg under the feathers bears the figures 211 V 079.

Whether the bird was dropped from an airplain which had passed over the city just a short time or whether it was blown down by the high wind which prevailed at the time, is not known.

great impression on his listeners as have all of his utterances, for in his confused embarrassed speeches he gives the impression of great sincerity.

The wild enthusiasm of the French people for him gave way to a remarkable demonstration of reverence for an hero.

Throngs, with their hats doffed, lined the curbings of the Champs Elysee, as Lindbergh, accompanied by Ambassador Herrick and Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council, rode in an open automobile to the city hall where he was given the freedom of the city.

Striking Demonstration

It was a striking demonstration, similar only to those seen when France greets royal visitors, with full pomp and ceremony.

Lindbergh, who has become accustomed to more vociferous enthusiasm, seemed greatly moved by the tribute of respect, and with his hat off nodded acknowledgements to the crowds as he drove along.

Double lines of mounted police lined the entire march of the procession, and the crowds were kept well back.

As the procession neared the city hall, which was a flutter with many flags, the ebullience of the French could no longer be restrained and there was prolonged applause.

The awe with which Lindbergh was received today may have been partially due to the fact that many of those who came to see him pass in review were workers, on holiday for Ascension Day, who are given to more silent respect than the usual boulevardiers.

Signs "Gold Book"

While the band played the "Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner," Lindbergh marched into the city hall where he signed "The Gold Book," which is reserved for the most important visitors to Paris.

Lindbergh, Ambassador Herrick and M. Doumer, president of the senate, were seated in huge seventeenth century chairs, while addresses of welcome were made. Under ordinary circumstances only members of the government are permitted to occupy these ancient chairs.

"We salute in you a worthy son of a noble republic, the United States," said Pierre Godin. "The friendship of the nation you represent is one of our greatest prides and our most vivid joys."

Lindbergh listened attentively, but even at the end of five days of listening to words of high praise he is unable to hide his embarrassment.

Sing for Lindbergh

He is still a boy, though saluted as a hero. "After a triumph such as yours, your countrymen can look with a proud smile upon the stars illuminating your flag," said M. Boujou, prefect of the Seine department.

"You bring us unhoped for recompense for the loss of the heroes we mourn who retain the honor of having first attempted the tremendous task you have accomplished," said M. Chiappe, police commissioner. "In our thoughts we will never separate your young and ardent face from the two great figures—Nungesser and Coli."

As these speeches were being made within the city hall, there came murmurings of vocal music from without, where street musicians entertained the crowds who could not gain entry, with songs of praise for Lindbergh, the crowds joining in the chorus.

Extremely grave and apparently deeply moved by the suffering he witnessed, Lindbergh earlier today paid a visit to the Invalides Military Hospital, where he was cheered by scores of maimed and scarred war veterans.

The wounded men gave loud cheers of "Lindbergh, Lindbergh, vive Lindbergh," when the young aviator entered the wards, and for the first time since his arrival in Paris cheers failed to bring the usual boyish grin to the face of the flier.

Visits Each Man

Passing up and down rows of beds and wheel-chairs, Lindbergh shook the hand of each patient, many of them legless, others with arms missing, some blind and some with their faces horribly disfigured. The young American was careful not to miss a single man in his tour of greeting and when he had passed through the wards he went to the porches where there were other "blesses" waiting in the sun to greet this hero of the new generation.

General Errard, who lost a leg and an arm in the war, spoke on behalf of the men and thanked Lindbergh for his visit.

"We are proud to have this young American of the new generation here," said the general, "and we are especially glad to see one who has such a miraculous achievement to his credit. This is a happy day for us."

"Lucky" Gives Money

Perhaps the most gracious act Lindbergh has accomplished and which has won for him even greater admiration has been his gift of 150,000 francs for a fund for the families of French aviators who have lost their lives in the promotion of the science of flying. The 150,000 francs was awarded to Lindbergh by the Aero Club of France, having been donated by Mme. Deutsche De La Meurthe for the purchase of a cup. Lindbergh promptly turned the money back, stating that he greatly appreciated the honor extended him but that it was his desire that the money be paid into the fund for the relief of those who have given their sons and husbands to the science of aviation.

Punctuality is inscribed heavily in the lexicon of this youth, for at 10:30 o'clock this morning, the appointed hour, he arrived at the home of Marshal Foch to pay his respects. Lindbergh was warmly greeted by Foch and the entire Foch family.

Wears American Medal

Marshal Foch wore his American distinguished service medal in honor of the occasion.

"I congratulate you for having shown what a young man can accomplish when he organizes well what he sets out to do," said Marshal Foch.

Lindbergh observed in an aside to the correspondents that "Foch is certainly a grand old man."

After an interesting conversation with Marshal Foch, Lindbergh then went to call on "Papa" Joffre and again he was greeted not only by the field marshal but by the entire Joffre family.

"I never can forget my visit to the United States in 1917," said "Papa" Joffre, "and to have it returned by you touches me profoundly. The entire French nation is happy and proud over your success."

After his call at the Joffre home Lindbergh expressed a desire to visit Versailles alone. Honoring his request the correspondents and others accompanying Lindbergh remained in Paris while he motored to Versailles with Parmely Herrick.

Doesn't Touch Wines

Although two kinds of wine and champagne have graced the table at the many luncheons and dinners given in honor of Lindbergh the youthful flier has confined his drinking to mineral water and milk, and still he says he is not a prohibitionist.

Lindbergh explained his attitude on the question of alcoholic beverages today in a brief interview.

"When toasts are proposed I lift my glass and touch my lips to the wine, because I do not want to appear rude or discourteous," said Lindbergh. "I do not drink, and it is not because I am opposed to drink but merely because I have never indulged in alcoholic beverages. I have no desire to start drinking now. I just don't seem to have the taste for it. That doesn't mean I am a prohibitionist. I would not want to try to tell others what they should and should not drink."

Landburgh has some very definite ideas about what he wants to drink however.

Takes Orangeade

When given a reception by Stephen Lausanne, famous French editor, the young flier was asked what he would have to drink, champagne or orangeade.

"If you do not mind, I will take orangeade. I feel thirsty," replied Lindbergh and he drank three glasses.

Even though Lindbergh has not paid tribute to the French wines he has certainly indulged in French pastries. The young man has a sweet tooth that has attracted much attention in Paris.

The word has gone around that Lindburgh revels in "pie." This word "pie" has rather baffled the French, who haven't quite understood what it means. Finally the French newspapers made their own translation and declared that Lindbergh was extremely partial to "pate." It seems that "pate" may mean pie and it may also be translated to mean spaghetti. This confusion has caused some amusing complications. Bozon Veraras, a French war aviator, is today widely advertising his special brand of spaghetti, announcing that it won a prize at the St. Louis Exposition, and other advertisements call attention to Lindbergh's fondness for "pate." As Lindbergh hails from St. Louis and his plane is called "The Spirit of St. Louis," M. Verdaras expects to do a landoffice business in this "pate" that won a prize at St. Louis.

Felix C. Reber

Felix C. Reber, 16, who will graduate in the scientific course, is known about Harding High School for his musical ability as he plays the piano, saxophone and cornet. He played in both the band and orchestra, majoring in music. Upon his graduation he plans to enter college, not having decided where. He expects to take up agriculture. Felix entered school on the Reber School on his parents' farm when he was five years old, attending school only half days until he was six. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reber of the Hillman-Ford-rd.

None of the boys showed a particular interest in athletics and only two of the five was musically inclined. Four will graduate in the scientific course and one in the classical. These courses are known as the most difficult of the High School cirriculem.

Daily Proverb—"The soul is not where it lives, but where it loves."

The great American lottery is with us once more. Cantaloupes have appeared on the market.

Till the boys began to wear them, we never imagined grain sacks would bleach out as they do.

Whenever regret assails us that we no longer have professional ball here in Marion, it's a source of great consolation to think of the sad case of our state capital.

It is announced that asbestos has been discovered under Central park in New York, which strikes us that that's probably the one place in all the city in which it is least needed.

In the light of the developments in the recent Snyder murder trial, one can hardly blame the girls for checking their corsets at dances.

The fact that the price of gasolene has gone up a cent doesn't afford occasion for jubilation on the part of us true aristocrats of the land, and it's just possible that it may add to the seeming vindictiveness of the common herd.

Revenue freight loadings totaled over a million cars again for the week ended May 14, the sixth million-plus record of the year. Even the doubting Thomases will soon have to admit that the prosperity we're enjoying has all the earmarks of the real thing.

We may be utterly mistaken, but these sham battles in which our fleets engage seem almost as conclusive to us, so far as they may indicate the probable result under war conditions, as the inevitable preliminary survey of an efficiency expert.

The "People's Legislative bureau" down in Washington, identified with the La Follette so-called "progressive" crowd, has issued a statement under the heading, "Calvin Coolidge, Coward," criticising the president for not calling a special session of congress looking to flood relief. We understand that all the six or eight members of the gang stand as one behind the statement.

Those Poor Critics.

We are almost inclined to feel sorry for the critics of our government's foreign policy. Of course, they will not admit they are that, for they have been holding that our government hasn't any foreign policy. But no matter how we may designate them, we feel half inclined to extend to them our sympathy. Matters have been breaking mighty badly for them of late. The foreign policy which our government lacked, as they saw it, seems to have smoothed out matters down in Mexico somewhat. It is an unquestioned fact that there is a far better spirit in being between the United States and Mexico today than there has been for a year or two in the past.

Only yesterday we read this extract from an editorial in Excelsior, one of the foremost papers published in Mexico City:

"Lindbergh's unbreakable physical resistance, reckless valor, incomparable energy and audaciousness have gained a triumph unprecedented in aviation, giving to the United States the glory of having such a hero. Lindbergh typifies all the force of a significant race, all the formidable boldness of the most powerful people on earth. Henry Ford, Theodore Roosevelt, Lindbergh—these are the breed of a nation with stupendous vitality, colossal strength and enormous self-confidence, which give it today world domination such as Rome and Spain had in their prime for the same reasons.

"Probably final complete subjugation of the air to the will of man will be the work of this powerful nation, which has made such enormous progress in aviation."

And this from an editorial in El Universal, another leading paper in the Mexican capital, commenting on Lindbergh's flight:

"One of the finest things of all is the frank and generous spirit with which all the world has hailed the triumph, with an absence of envy and with spontaneous, sincere joy in the performance of a great and glorious deed."

These utterances show a far different feeling from that manifested by the same papers a few months ago. They are of a far different tone.

And the situation down in Nicaragua seems to have improved most decidedly. Over in China, our "excuse" for a foreign policy seems to have met the approval of the other nations represented there with naval squadrons and soldiery. In any event, they have adopted it. And now, to cap the climax, the British ministry has announced regret that it didn't follow the course of the United States in refusing to give recognition to the soviet governmental monstrosity.

Really, the bolsheviki, the communists, the pacificists, the internationalists, the anarchists, the I. W. W., the American Civil Liberties union, and any and all other enemies or critics of our government are playing in hard luck. And our heart fairly aches for the Hon. William E. Borah over this unfeeling repudiation by Great Britain of his Russian friends.

Almost Too Good To Be True.

Last Saturday, with all the civilized world, we were thrilled by the marvelous achievement of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, easily the greatest individual feat in all history, and we then paid, and with all the world have since been paying, tribute to his daring courage and his consummate skill as an aviator, but as the days pass and we follow his course over in Paris we find that, while showing our honor and admiration for the aviator, we have not given in the past the appreciation we should to the character of the man.

We can not recall a case in point in the annals of all history. We can not recall such a test as this young American has been compelled to undergo. The absolute idol of a people who were assumed to be more or less unfriendly to all Americans, the guest in Paris of the ambassador of his country, warmly and affectionately greeted by the president and highest officials of the French republic, paid such honors as heretofore have been granted only to the most illustrious of the world and even then but rarely, decorated with the insignia of the Legion of Honor, the recipient of invitations to be the guest of the kings of three proud nations, the recipient of messages of congratulation and felicitation by the president of his own land and the heads of many others, the recipient of honors too many to permit of mention—and in the face of all this young Lindbergh has retained his poise. Through it all he has been his plain, natural, modest, unassuming self. Perhaps herein lies his great charm. It may be these very qualities which have won to him the admiration and good will of the world and brought felicitations from the heads of most of the world's nations.

And this young man's course in refusing to consider any and all contractural engagement offers made him, despite the fact that they might mean millions of dollars to him, until he returns to America and can give them calm consideration, shows that he is not one who is going to be taken off his feet. In this connection, a statement made by him is illuminating. He told an interviewer that his flight was organized, without thought of commercializing it, to advance the cause of aviation, and that he would give consideration only to such of those proposals which have been made as may prove beneficial to the development of aviation.

In this connection, it may be said that we get something of a line on Lindbergh from his mother. It seems to be a case of like mother, like son. The manner in which Mrs. Lindbergh refused to consider an offer at an amazing salary to appear in motion pictures—an offer which would have had an irresistible lure for most women—and her courteous declination of a number of offers by steamship lines to take her to her son as their guest show that she not only has appreciation of the eternal fitness of things, but also is one of those mothers—the kind above all others the world honors—who can get their greatest happiness out of the honors the world pays to their sons without the slightest desire to crowd into the rays of the world's spot-light directed upon their loved ones.

The unparalleled daring of young Lindbergh's exploit, which attracted the attention and interest of the French as probably nothing else could have done; the accomplishment of his wonderful feat which thrilled them to the highest degree; the almost instantaneous liking which his modest demeanor aroused in them, combined to wipe out in a few hours more bitterness felt toward us over there than years upon years would have effaced. From first to last, from the hop-off in the fog last Friday morning up to the present—all of it seems almost too good to be true.

Mr. Hughes' statement, that he is too old to make a race for the presidency, will naturally cause a lot of somewhat mature patriots with visions of the White House in their eyes to wonder why he couldn't have gracefully sidestepped suggestion of a candidacy without getting off that "too old" stuff.

The Paris court which granted Princess Galatzine, formerly Aimee Crocker, a divorce from her fifth husband, denied him alimony. Aren't these foreigners who give their titles to American girls to get any valuable consideration in return? At this distance, it looks like an outrage.

A Chicago face analysist announced to the world yesterday that Lindbergh's face assured the success of his flight across the Atlantic. That's the trouble with these fellows who know all about things all the time. They never think of giving us an advance tip to save us from worry and anxiety.

Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York, says prohibition might be a good thing if we had it, which recalls that old one by the bard, when he pointed out that humanity was prone to bear the ills it had rather than fly to others of which it did not know.

Apropos of a "second elective term," so long as the rank and file of the Republican party is impressed by the view that Mr. Coolidge can not be defeated, there is just about as much chance of somebody else being nominated as there would be expectation of a snowball surviving in the place the late Robert G. Ingersoll always said there isn't.

"An aeroplane race, with death as a competitor," says the Washington Star, "makes a horse race look like comparatively penny ante sport." There's another phase of the former which has its appeal; we know the result isn't determined before the race is run.

Mrs. Sarah Karrick and four others have been found guilty of manslaughter for the killing of Mrs. Karrick's husband, the movie picture actor, out in Hollywood. It's getting so that the killing of a husband by his wife is looked upon pretty generally as something rather serious rather than the mere pastime it once appeared to be held.

Three hundred and forty people have been killed in Chicago by automobiles thus far this year, an increase of fifteen per cent. over the corresponding period last year. And yet some people hold that the Windy City's gangsters and gunmen have barred her progress!

Diet Important for Colitis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Old people, debilitated people, undernourished people are subject to an intestinal disturbance in which diarrhea is a prominent symptom. These cases, however, are not all alike.

One form is called "catarrhal enteritis," or "chronic diarrhea." This is an inflammation of the lining membrane of the intestinal canal. It may attack the small intestines, or it may involve the large bowel, or both divisions.

The chronic form follows the acute. Colicky pains, gurgling noises, loss of appetite, dry, coated tongue, and great thirst are among the symptoms. Of course, the profuse diarrhea is the chief symptom. The attack lasts two or three days, or even a week or more.

If for any reason there is not early recovery from the acute form, it becomes obstinately chronic. Then there is diarrhea, painless or colicky. The stools are watery, containing more or less mucus.

The large intestine—the lower bowel—is called the colon. As I have said, this may be involved in chronic enteritis and produce the symptoms suggested.

There is a special form of intestinal trouble, when the lining of the colon is always the seat of attack. This is called "mucous colitis," or, sometimes, "mucous colic."

Real mucous colitis is a disease met in nervous or hysterical persons. Women are more likely to have it than men.

There is a slimy, gelatinous, stringy, membranous discharge. Frequent recurrences of the pain and diarrhea are common.

My purpose in writing today is to speak about the diet in such cases. What I have to say about it will apply to chronic diarrhea of either type, but particularly to mucous colitis.

There is great difference of opinion among the authorities as to the proper method of feeding these patients. Some advise coarse food with much roughage, the seeds and skins of fruit, etc. Personally, I do not favor this method.

As I see it, it is important to furnish a nourishing diet of foods which are not irritating to the bowels. The first thing coming into my mind is milk. Perhaps raw milk may not be well received. In this case it may be milk which has been boiled and cooled. Sometimes a scant teaspoonful of gelatin to a glass of milk will increase its value.

Cocoa made from an abundance of milk is good. Likewise rice soup or soup made from strained peas or beans. All the thick soups made with milk are valuable. Butter and fat meats are proper.

Baked potatoes, eggs and scraped beef are good foods in these cases. Honey, jelly and puddings are all right.

Now we come to the fruits and vegetables. I do not care what cooked vegetables or fruits are taken, provided they are strained through a colander. I advise that the seeds, fibre and indigestible parts be removed in this way. Then they may be taken without harm. But they must be cooked and strained.

Don't go hungry. Plan meals along the line suggested here. Then recovery will be prompt.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

R. H. Q—I am sixty-five years of age and experience a prickling, cramping sensation at the base of the toes when walking, and even though I walk briskly it feels as if the mercury was down to zero. The trouble began last winter in a milder form, the hands also get very cold. What treatment would you advise?

A. Probably due to a circulatory disturbance and aggravated by frostbite. Massaging should be helpful. Be sure that the general health is good, then the circulation will take care of itself. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

HOPE.

We sailed and sailed upon the desert sea
Where for whole days we alone seemed to be.
At last we saw a dim, vague line arise
Between the empty billows and the skies,
That grew and grew until it bore the shape
Of cove and inlet, promontory and cape;
Then hills and valleys, rivers, fields, and woods,
Steeples and roofs, and village neighborhoods.
And then I thought: "Sometime I shall embark
Upon a sea more desert and more dark
Than ever this was, and between the skies
And empty billows I shall see arise
Another world out of that waste and lapse,
Like yonder land. Perhaps—perhaps—perhaps!"
—William Dean Howells.

Editorial Comment.

PETTICOAT RULE.

Premier Stanley Baldwin is a man of his word. The specter of petticoat government may disturb his dreams, but it can not affright him from keeping his solemn pledge to grant equal franchise to the women of England, enabling women over twenty-one years to vote in the next election.

The government has made its decision, which means the enfranchisement of between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 more women. Of this number 2,000,000 already are over thirty years of age, the present age limit for voters, but debarred from voting by various restrictions. As the electorate register now shows 9,500,000, the women will be able to outvote the men by 2,000,000. Hence the fear of "flapper government," which is being shrieked by timid and scandalized conservatives in the tight little isle.

As might have been expected, Dean Inge, the gloomy ecclesiastical oracle of Britain, sees in this extension of the franchise the "possible end of democracy and the parliamentary system of government."

But Lady Nancy Astor holds another view, as does the brilliant Dame Fawcett, as do the great women's organizations of the country, who forced Mr. Baldwin to redeem his pledge of two years ago.

Against this decision of the government was opposed the judgment of the whole cabinet, but it stands and the equal franchise bill will be introduced in the next parliament in time for the newly-enfranchised women to register in July of next year.

The prospect perhaps may shock the mental equilibrium of the old-time British Conservative, for the bill seems certain of passage, but Lady Astor and her friends, in response to all and various criticism, reply with a characteristic feminine "Blah," and furthermore, with a contemptuous, "Blah-blah."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A NEIGHBORLY WAR TRIBUTE.

In the supply bill voted by the Canadian parliament before its recent adjournment is a little item of interest to Americans. It is under the head of "National Defense," and is entitled "Vote No. 449" for $10,000. The object is to provide a "Memorial to those citizens and residents of the United States who enlisted in the Canadian forces and lost their lives in the late war."

It is probable that many of the citizens and residents referred to were of Canadian descent. They were sons of Canadians who had crossed the border. Yet we know that a large number of native-born Americans enlisted in the Canadian army before their own country entered the war.

Their act was felt at the time to be of unusual significance. It showed where their sympathies lay in the war and was also a means of heartening the Canadians themselves. These American volunteers added much more than numbers to Canadian military strength. They brought with them a moral approval which was highly valued.

For the Canadian government now to recognize and seek to honor, even in a modest way, this American reinforcement is not only a graceful tribute to the American soldiers who fought and lost their lives in the Canadian ranks, but is also a striking evidence of good-will. In both aspects it is sure to be appreciated in this country.—Youngstown Vindicator.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY TOO ACCESSIBLE.

If we remember rightly, the last congress authorized an appropriation of several millions for the purpose of making our national parks more accessible to automobile traffic. A great deal has already been spent in constructing fine hard-surfaced roads to these park reservations.

It has seemed time to Chief Forester Greeley, however, to suggest that it is possible to go too far in rendering these beauty spots accessible. "I am of the opinion," says Colonel Greeley, "that there are some beautiful regions which should be preserved so that they might only be reached by the mountaineer on foot, horseback, or canoe."

There will be many, we think, who will be found in complete agreement with Mr. Greeley in this opinion. The national parks are vast areas of which no one traveler ever expects to see the whole, and since they exist at the expense of the public it seems only fair that all automobile travelers should be able to get to them, and far enough within to enjoy their aesthetic and recreational value. But there is no good reason why every point of wild beauty and grandeur within our borders should be reached by a good road, requiring no physical effort on the tourist's part. Something should be left to the true nature lovers of both sexes who are willing to pay for their pleasure with toil and sweat, and indeed glad to heighten the enjoyment of it by laborious effort.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Today's important thing may have nothing to do with your regular job. It may lead to no material profit. It may be no obvious task. It may be the writing of a letter, a simple errand, a bit of a gift. Today's important task may be the adjustment of a misunderstanding. Today's important task may be such a little thing that it will not take five minutes. In its effect on your character and on your achievement it may outrank the full routine of all the remaining hours.

Do you know how to choose the important?

A great many people can earn. Comparatively few can save. President Coolidge worked part of his way through college. In every vacation he worked. And he saved his money. Wilson and Harding were poor boys, but they learned to save. Garfield was a farm hand and a mule driver. But he saved enough to go to school. He became a college president before he was president of the United States. David Lloyd George was a money saver. Otherwise he could never have struggled on to become a lawyer and later prime minister of his kingdom.

It is said that the mark of intelligence is the ease with which a man can adjust himself to the circumstances in which he has to work. Great waste results from our inability to do this rapidly. At his best, a man carries his environment with him. He ignores outside circumstances, and gives from the inside.

Bishop Hughes tells churchmen to be sociable. Many do not need that advice. Perhaps he might better have said to most churchmen: Be thoughtful.

Your boy may be getting a late start in school but don't be too quick to worry. Hudson Maxim, noted inventor who just died, was nine before he learned the alphabet. Once started, he went a long way.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

HERMAN P. FARIS.

Herman Preston Faris was born at Bellefontaine, Ohio, December 25, 1858. He began his career in a printing office at Clinton, Missouri, at the age of thirteen and since 1887 has been vice president, treasurer, and manager of the Brinkerhoff-Faris Trust and Savings company, Clinton. Faris was the candidate of the Prohibition party for the office of secretary of state of Missouri, in 1888, has been the same party's candidate for governor of the state on three occasions, and ran for the presidency of the United States on the Prohibition ticket in 1924. He believes prohibition can be enforced and states that the present and two preceding administrations has enforced it only enough to placate the public. His statement follows:

"I think Mr. Mellon has made a great secretary of the treasury, but the enforcement of the prohibition law should not be in his hands. It is entirely out of place.

"It is a legal question. Until it is placed in the attorney general's department we need not expect anything but a farcical enforcement. Mr. Mellon is a man who frankly admits his interest in the distilling business and is naturally sympathetic.

"The administrations of Wilson, Harding and Coolidge have given just as little enforcement as the people would remain quiet under.

"The law against the liquor business can be made just as effective as the law against any other form of murder. There will always be abnormalities in individuals, as evidenced by Judd Gray and Mrs. Snyder in the murder line, so there will be in the liquor line.

"It is the hope of the prohibitionists that one of the major political parties will in 1928 make a flat declaration on the wet and dry question.

"We are preparing to get our party in shape to force the issue before the people and bring about that cleavage.

"The fight for successful prohibition is a question of enforcement.

"It has been said the law is only one per cent. Ninety-nine per cent. is in the enforcement."

In Paris, the Gay.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

Paris, May 26—This afternoon I went out in search of George Ade who arrived here from Egypt yesterday. I seemed to be about four soda water fountains behind him and wound up at the Dome in the Latin quarter at a table the garcon informed me the humorist had just vacated.

"He had a glass of vichy water, seemed bored and departed," he explained. The usual crowd was on the terasse of the Dome—the mannish lady with a monocle, art students in blue and wine-colored smocks, silhouette cutters, dreamy-eyed poets, ink-stained scribblers of pot-boilers, near sculptors with Jo Davidson whiskers, pale models of the garrets and such.

Across the streets at the Rotonde and the Select were the same odd types. All seeking to express the artistic urge cubistically or otherwise. Indeed, in the main, a glorious collection of good-natured, likable and harmless nuts. The same assortment that used to be found in Greenwich village.

The Latin quarter is the same as it was a year ago or ten years ago save for a new sartorial note. It has tired of velveteen jackets and flowing black bow ties. A number have gone back to the Louis XV period and are appearing as silk-calved courtiers.

Two of them, with powdered hair, occupied a table on the outer edge of the sidewalk at the Dome. Montparnasse coiffeurs announce they are equipped with powder hair—price four francs. Tailors on boulevard Saint-Germain are showing frilled shirts, silk stockings and silver buckled pumps.

Even the fashionable male tailoring salons along Faubourg St. Honore are showing short silk pantaloons for full evening clothes. I am told they have been born at the Ciro Friday night and the Ritz Sunday night dinner dances, but I have not seen them.

It will be a blow to the Sioux City drug store cowboys who have stocked up with the bell-mouthed trousers. At the Dome I saw something entirely new in begging. A tattered old lady leading a miserable little boy stopped in front of my table. She screeched at the child: "Pleurer pour l'homme!" And the urchin began to weep. He cried me out of a ten franc note.

Later I ran across George Ade in that long labyrinth of glittering show cases in the Ritz. Ade called it the "Alley of Temptations" "this is," he said, "the place where husbands should put blinders on their wives."

No person seems so symbolic of his calling as the Parisian funeral coach driver around the Madelaine. There is a touch of grief to his cockade hat and frayed overcoat. His jowls hang lugubriously and he appears to have a perpetual lump in his throat. Then there are the professional mourners who stand about the curbs in long black coats, smoking their pipes, ready to swing off behind the hearse in the long walk to the cemetery. They lend their leaden presence to the mourning for eight francs per funeral—or about thirty cents.

Then, too, are the old women baloon venders who stand at the gates of the parks and gardens with their tugging blurs of color. Their personality is that of a mould on a pat of butter. I have watched them for years and never have I seen one of them make a sale.

In one of the smartest restaurants in Paris for dinner this evening an American negress in full evening dress entered with a blonde young woman fashionably-attired. He was ebon black and she was as fair as a lily. The head waiter with a flourish seated them at a prominent table in the middle of the room. They seemed agreeably welcome.

In the same restaurant was Mrs. Jean Nash, publicized as the best-dressed woman in the world. She was with her husband—the dashing young Dubonnet. She was in a simple blue gown and dazzled with diamonds. One could find hundreds of more beautiful and more becomingly-dressed women in New York at the same hour. Mrs. Nash happened to be good newspaper copy. Hence her fame, such as it is.

Below my hotel window is a garden, ablaze with multi-colored flowers and slit with cool graveled walks. Under huge umbrellas, festooned with lights, are gay crowds having an after-theater bite. The soft blue sky seems a starry mesh. And despite all the beauty and froth, one can not help but sense the ugliness and depravity that exist here. That somehow spoils it all. I do not see how a normal American could be content here permanently. —Copyright, 1927.

Dinner Stories.

In a certain town where two brothers were engaged in a flourishing retail coal business a series of revival meetings were held, and the elder brother of the firm was converted.

For weeks afterward the brother who had lately got religion endeavored to persuade the other to join the church. One day when the elder brother was making another effort, he asked: "Why can't you, Richard, join the church as I did?"

"It's all right for you to be a member of the church," replied Richard, "but if I join, who's going to weigh the coal?"

A British officer being tried for drunkenness called his servant as a witness.

"Did you see me when I came home on that night?" he asked.

"I did."

"Was I drunk or sober?"

"You were sober."

"Are you quite sure?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes, sir, he was quite sober and left orders to be called early."

There was a pause, then the lawyer asked: "Did he give any reason for wishing to be called early?"

"Yes, sir, he said he was to be Queen of the May."

BEHIND THE SCREEN

An actor in a drama of the jungle.

Of course, it had to come. The secrets of jungle life can't remain secret long in a motion picture age. "Chang," or some similar movie, was certain to be made—tearing away the protection that the jungle affords its inhabitants.

One does feel a bit sorry for the animals, whose lives thus become as public as those of the most civilized peoples. But the movie couldn't be expected to spare them. And it's lucky—since they must appear as actors—their story is so finely dramatic, is of such good taste. For "Chang" is that.

"Chang" deals with life in the jungle of northern Siam—the sort of jungles peopled with brown-skinned natives. (Maybe all jungles are so peopled: at least, one would so judge at the movies.) Well, man and animal fight it out with the jungle. This battle, woven into sequence, becomes a natural melodrama.

Elephants, for example, maddened by the abduction of one of their number, charge upon a Siamese village built on stilts. You can imagine what a director (if there was a director) does with that scene. Not much of the village remains.

In some quarters, "Chang's" jungle animal actors are being looked upon as a warm weather relief from a few of the shoulder-shrugging, heavy going stars. Maybe, maybe.

Just what steps the Hollywood animal actors will take to prevent further encroachment by the jungle animal actors is not known.

One thing you like about a polite man—you are not in fear of him.

Will your skin bear close scrutiny?

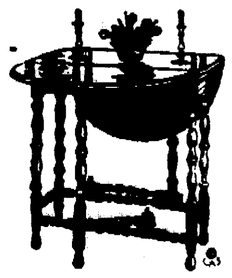

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

I have been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this common ailment are unchanged.

No matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salts which draw vital fluids from the body and thin the blood, causing rheumatic aches and pains; coal tar (phenolphthalein) disguised in gum or candy form, that poisons and irritates the tissue of the stomach, intestine and bowel, causing skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and damage to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousnes, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.—Adv.

You haven't any objection to playing around with her, have you?"

Fear that he might imagine I was jealous gave my voice an unwonted cordiality, an emotion which I was far from feeling.

"No, indeed," I said. "I imagine she will prove extremely interesting. Perhaps you noticed that I was most cordial in my invitation to her this afternoon when we were over there."

He nodded, a bit absently, waited for several seconds before he spoke again.

"The other reason is more fanciful," he said slowly. "Perhaps I am mistaken, but I am afraid one of those men—not the red-bearded one—he's simply a harmless satellite—but the other one—has some idea of extorting money from old Lincoln."

"I thought you said those two men in the shack were not dangerous," I commented.

"I said, 'not dangerous—to us'," he retorted, and I realized that I had not imagined his hesitation before the two words. "There is no doubt that both old Lincoln—that isn't his name of course, but as he chooses to call himself that, we have no alternative save to follow suit— and this shorter man at Grimsey's shack are both Transvanians. I imagine that the man at the shack may know something about Lincoln which the old man wouldn't want spread around—perhaps some romantic adventure of his earlier years which he wants kept from his wife—it's a tribe not noted for its marital fidelities, and if so, that letter at which Miss Lincoln seemed so agitated today, might very well be a blackmailing demand for money from her uncle.

"Of course, this is all my imagination," Dicky went on, while I made the mental comment that he was protesting a little too much, "but it is a very plausible solution of the mystery which appears to hang around those two widely divergent households. At any rate, it won't be a bad idea to get on such terms with Miss Lincoln that she wouldn't be afraid to come to us at once if anything should happen to terrify her. But I am afraid I have kept you up an unconscionably long time. You have an early journey tomorrow. Shall I drive you to the station or have you arranged with Jim?"

His voice changed to such distant formality as he spoke of my projected journey the next morning to keep my appointment with my employer, Philip Veritzen, for the discussion of the new plans the great producer had brought back with him from Europe, that my answer was equally formal and prompt.

"I could not think of troubling you so early," I said. "I already have told Jim to get up and drive me to the train."

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Mansour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears—carried off by the Moors. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Yousef el-Habbassi he starts on his travels.

Larry demonstrates his gifts as a wizard to a Moor he meets, who proves to be Omar, who has disguised himself to test Larry.

His next adventure is with a Berber outlaw who asks him to read his future. Larry tells him that three days from the present time he will die by the hands of an unknown assassin.

He reaches the market place of Duk el-Abda.

He again encounters Ben Ahmed, who is determined to kill him. Larry is saved by a knife thrown by a strange hand which kills Beni Ahmed as Larry had prophesied. The stranger beckons Larry to follow him.

"As the door closed softly behind them Larry turned and looked at his companion."

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

HE knew he was passing through a low, narrow opening, then, far ahead, he saw a faint sliver of light as though coming from beneath a tightly closed door. His guide led him thither and the door was thrust open, admitting them to a small, over-furnished room; it was covered with thick rugs and heavy, velvety cushions. Small taborets stood everywhere. As the door closed softly behind them Larry turned and looked at his companion.

He saw a slender youth whose complexion was even fairer than his own; whose blue, blue eyes met his candidly; he saw a slim, evenly-featured face with a broad, smooth forehead and soft skin, eyes set wide, a face that might have belonged to a beautiful girl!

That the fellow was a Berber he realized instantly, for only among the Berbers whose blood had never been contaminated by the strain of Negroid that had swept like a dark sin through Morocco, was there still to be found this fair-skinned, fair-eyed and fair-haired type.

His eyes, meeting those of the handsome youth, were held by them, and something that resembled an electric tingle went through him at this contact of orbs. Instantly his heart warmed toward the other; he sensed, as it were, that here was a soul kindred to his own; here was one on whom he could count, this youth, tender of years, handsome—nay, beautiful—of face and figure, was, he knew with that intuitive sense that guides our emotions, destined to hold forever a strong place in his affections.

He found himself thinking dazedly that the lad was mightily like Ben Mansour and that he was going to love him with the same virile force that he had loved Mansour. He heard the soft voice of the other breaking in on his thought's with that peculiar bell-like sound:

"You are safe for the present, but your road is long and the dangers are many. From here we go together, you and I. Tell me, shall you be pleased at the companionship?"

Larry reached out with his strong, muscular right hand and dropped it firmly on the slender, well-filled shoulder of the youth.

"You and I are going to be great friends, beardless one; I know it. Tell me your name."

The other hesitated briefly, searching Larry's face with a keen glance.

"Before I tell you, wizard, have you a token by which I may know you?"

"Now by the Prophet's beard, what matters it?" breathed Larry, but he raised his hand so that the glowing heart of the Eye of the Prophet threw back with a thousand scintillations the flickering lights of the room. At sight of the ring, the youth bowed his head swiftly, then looked up, clasping Larry's hand and drawing it down until the ring again was hidden in his palm.

"The Eye of the Prophet," he breathed. "It is even as I was told. Then, you are truly Yousef el-Habbasai, and I shall tell you my name."

"I am waiting," Larry said simply.

"I am Allal Abdi, only son of the Sherif Omar ben Mansour el-Masmazi, who is either dead or has forgotten me," and the liquid tones broke with a bell-like sound and were hushed.

"The son of B—" Larry checked himself, lest he say too much. But that he had come face to face with Allal Abdi, the son of his old and best loved friend, Ben Mansour, was almost too much to realize. This beardless youth, this boy with the beautiful face was, if Omar ben Medjad knew what he was talking about, the center of a devilish plot. He found himself looking at Allal Abdi curiously, knowing now why he had felt that hot springing into life of sudden affection for the other; knowing now why he had trusted him involuntarily since the moment he had first heard the sounds of his voice.

"You knew my fahter!" The youth, not being witless, had noticed Larry's near-break.

"I knew Sherif Omar ben Mansour many years ago, Allal Abdi. Tell me, now; know you one Omar—" Before he could finish the other held up his hand.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

"SPEAK not the name, wizard. Even walls, especially Moroccan walls, have ears and sometimes eyes. I know whom you mean for I have talked with him only recently. It was his counsel that set me to spying on Beni Ahmed and following his every move for the one we both know said Beni Ahmed likely would try for your life and that I was to keep near him and protect you if you seemed trapped. The man we speak of was here today. At this minute, however, he is somewhere on the Forbidden Road, traveling south, unless, indeed, he is dead."

"Then if you saw him, and talked with him perhaps he left a message for me?" Larry's voice was eager.

"He left only this word: 'The Forbidden Road still leads south and somewhere, south, we shall meet again'."

"And you go with me, Allal Abdi?"

"I go with you, as one who sits at the feet of wisdom and seeks to learn of the art of wizards. It is for you to say when we start and once we are on the road I have no doubt we shall see and hear strange things. And if dangers should threaten us, wizard, you must use your power to preserve peace for, having been raised quietly and without the opportunities that are given the young of the hills, I am not overly-strong, and it would go ill with me in physical combat, I feel."

"Yet, you threw a knife with marvelous dexterity," Larry reminded him.

... I had to throw ... [illegible] ...

you should know that in putting me in power you are placing me only, where I belong and at the same time you are helping to save civilization in Morocco, for if you succeed in making me the sherif, then you will already have recovered the Sacred Eye."

"I did not speak to test you, beardless one," Larry said, his mind racing. "Full well I know, indeed, that you are the true ruler over the Berbers, over the Seven Tribes of the Alliance; full well I know, also, that the Maraboot Group has it in mind to elevate you only long enough to show the people a sherif, and then—" he paused, having no heart to say the words that had come to his mind.

"Slit my throat in the night, else tie a silken cord about it or hand me a poison decoction with my couscous," the youth finished calmly. Then:

"Your apparel is most filthy for one of your exalted standing. If you are of a mind to change, there are fresh burnouses here, that one we both know had prepared especially for your use, saying you required many pockets. You are, of course, welcome to what you choose to take."

"I shall accept a clean burnouse and fresh turban gladly, Allal Abdi," Larry said, beginning to cast aside the dirty robes he wore. Allal Abdi ran quickly to a nearby door, pausing only long enough to say:

"I shall be back soon, ready to accompany you on the Forbidden Road; array yourself hastily and I shall prepare coffee."

The youth disappeared on the words and Larry set about donning clean raiment and disposing of his wizard's paraphernalia beneath his fresh burnouse. He found a stubble of a beard was beginning to turn silky on his chin and sensed that as the days passed he was coming more and more to resemble a true Moor.

Allal Abdi re-appeared shortly after Larry, freshly clad and feeling clean for the first time in days, had placed his last packet beneath his burnouse. The youth bore coffee, cups and cigarets. He poured two cups of the black, aromatic beverage and Larry picked up one, sipping it, the while he drew on his cigaret. And he wondered greatly at Allal Abdi, sipping coffee daintily, much as a bird might have sipped a pool of dew from a lotus leaf.

For Allal Abdi was the first Berber he had ever known who did not smoke!

If the road from Ab Dukkar had been rough, the way south from Duk el-Abda was almost impassable. Towering mountain peaks stalked high toward the blue, blue skies and the road wound circuitously through these, with many a halt and slant that only an agile man sure of himself, could conquer. No horse nor other beast of burden could possibly have followed the Forbidden Road after it erupted from the south gate of Duk el-Abda, threaded through a narrow, high-walled pass, then headed on into the eternal mountains.

Larry, following in Allal Abdi's agile footsteps and wondering at the stamina the youth displayed, knew that it was roads such as this that had prevented the encroachment of civilization; he knew, also, that unless some event of which none now living had knowledge came to pass it was probable that the far Berber tribes never would be subjugated, but until the very end would pursue their wild, rugged ways, fighting off attacks of all natures.

Clicquot Club

Ginger Ale

Aged 6 months

—an exclusive, secret process

Clicquot Club is aged like a rare wine.

Only master hands, guided by the skill and experience of many years, can weave its choice flavorings, from the world's best markets, into this unusual product.

Only aging under expert care can give these ingredients, whose quality is higher than the highest government standards, a chance to develop a distinctive flavor. As in well-ripened wines, the bouquet and aroma depend upon aging—upon proper protection from air and light.

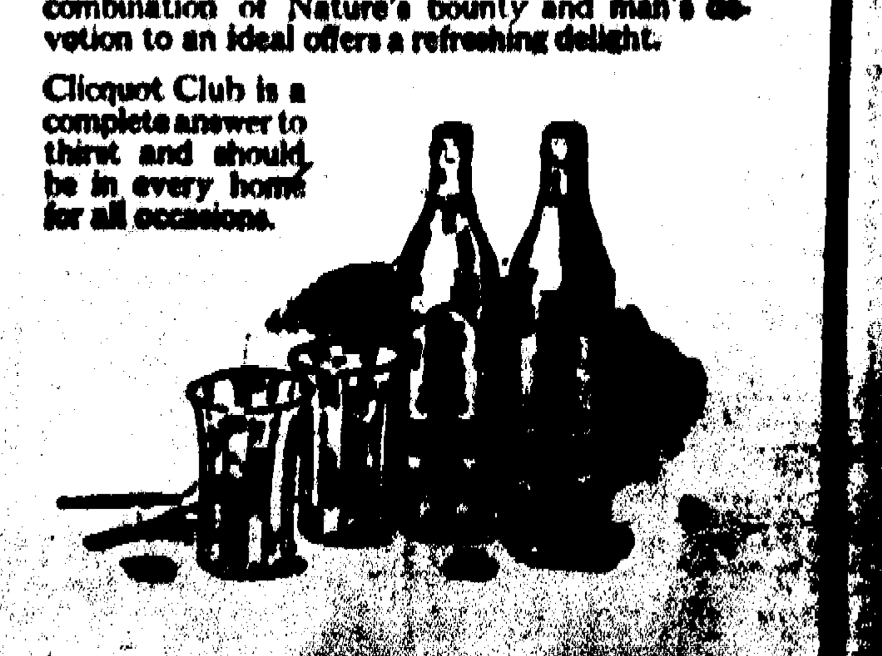

Like liquid diamonds, the pure, clear water of the Clicquot spring finds its way into the New England sunlight to become a perfect medium for man's skill in the blending of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

In all the world there is only one Clicquot spring and only Clicquot Club can offer this heritage of purity.

It is the result of forty years of skillful working with a natural water which scientists say is peculiarly adapted to the production of a high quality ginger ale. The water of the Clicquot spring combines perfectly with the pure fruit flavors used in its making.

Every time you open a bottle of Clicquot Club—the glowing Golden or the dainty Pale Dry—the combination of Nature's bounty and man's devotion to an ideal offers a refreshing delight.

Clicquot Club is a complete answer to thirst and should be in every home for all occasions.

RABIES FEAR IS QUIETED WITH STATE REPORT

Head of Canine Which Attacked Salter Lad Is Examined

Fears that a case of rabies might develop from a dog's attack upon a boy in Grand Township were ended this morning by a report received from the laboratory of the state department of health, where the dog's head was taken for examination, the animal having been killed by its owner immediately after the boy was bitten.

Official report of the examination, received this morning by Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, stated that the head showed no signs of rabies. The head was taken to the state laboratory yesterday by Dr. Sifritt.

Playing with Children

The victim of the dog's attack was the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Salter, who resides about three miles northwest of Meeker. The Salter boy and several other children were playing with the dog, having hitched it to a small wagon. The children were unable to give definite details of how the attack occurred. The accident happened late Tuesday afternoon.

The Salter boy's right arm was bitten and he was taken at once to the office of Dr. Fields in Meeker. Dr. Fields advised the father to get in touch with the county health authorities immediately and have an investigation made to guard against rabies.

Lawson Borland, owner of the dog, had killed and buried it, but at the request of Dr. Sifritt it was disinterred, the head removed for examination.

Worst in History

Utmost care must be taken in guarding against the rabies menace, Dr. Sifritt stated today in connection with the Salter case. There has been a greater prevalence of rabies in Ohio during the last year than ever in the state's history, the health commissioner says.

Marion County has been unusually fortunate, no cases having been reported in this county during the seven years that he has served as health commissioner, Dr. Sifritt says. There have been numerous cases, however, in nearby counties.

Dogs should not be killed where rabies is suspected, Dr. Sifritt says. The best plan, he states, is to lock them up and await developments. Should a dog be infected, it will develop unmistakable signs within a few days and the animal will finally die.

Symptoms Slow Coming

Persons bitten by dogs infected with rabies will not show symptoms of the ailment for about 40 days, Dr. Sifritt says.

Increase of rabies in Ohio during the last year was one of the chief reasons for enactment of the game warden law by the legislature at its recent session, it is stated. This law gives sheriffs authority to employ special assistants to have supervision over dogs in their counties.

STATE WOULD ACQUIRE ENTIRE ROAD SYSTEM

Construction Costs This Year Cut 30 Per Cent, Schlesinger Announces

Columbus, May 26—State highway department officials expect to have the entire state system of 11,000 miles under state maintenance by the end of 1928, Highway Director George Schlesinger stated today, even though state highway construction costs during the coming year is expected to be at least 30 per cent lower than during the past year.

Highway construction costs for this year will aggregate $10,000,000, a reduction of 30 per cent, and in 1928 will total about $12,000,000, Schlesinger said. The reduction is attributed to recent enactment by the Ohio legislature of the Norton-Edwards Highway Reodification Act which relieves counties from paying assessments for state road building.

The state highway system will be completed by building gravel roads, through use of state road maintenance funds, where hard surfaced roads can not be constructed for lack of funds, Schlesinger said.

Ceveland Woman and Five-Year-Old Son Seriously Injured

Cleveland, May 26—Mrs. Eva Thomas was in a serious condition at Fairview Park Hospital today, while her son, Virgil, 5, was being treated at Lutheran Hospital, following a fire at the Thomas home here this morning. Frantic with pain, the woman finally plunged through an open window, landing on some electric light wires where she managed to hold on until firemen carried her to safety.

The little boy was rescued shortly afterward. It was feared he inhaled some of the flames.

Two other persons, trapped on the same floor of the dwelling, escaped when firemen raised a ladder to their room.

The entire second floog of the structure was destroyed by the fire.

The others killed were negro workmen in a warehouse a short distance from the park. Several score were given first aid treatment at hospitals for minor injuries.

Fire Trucks Flash Through Galion Honoring Aged Man

GALION, May 26—A unique and unusual form of celebration was given for T. B. Bergert last night as he observed the eighty-ninth anniversary of his birth.

"Uncle Ben" as he was called by those who know him best has been a prominent figure in city affairs for many years and has the distinction of being named as the state's oldest active fireman. Starting as volunteer fireman at the age of 15, Bergert has been a fire fighter through the intervening years and although a successful business man of the city, has been a minute man and one of the most faithful of the city corps. For a number of years Bergert has been retired from business, but the urge to conquer devastating flames has been prevalent and in spite of advanced years there are few fires that "Uncle Ben" has missed.

Complimentary "Alarm"

The birthday anniversary was celebrated quietly with the usual best wishes of friends, until shortly after 7 o'clock when to Bergert's yet keen ears came the sound of the city fire bell. The eight taps followed after an interval by nine more were a mystery to the old fire fighter until the huge red truck bearing all members of the department and a number of city officials, stopped at the Bergert home, corner of N. Market and Church-sts.

It was then that the notable event was really celebrated. Mayor H. H. Hartman made the congratulatory address and in behalf of city firemen presented Bergert with a large basket of roses. Old time incidents were recalled and the honored man especially commended on the fact that in spite of years of valuable services, he has never received remuneration for his work. A social time followed and at the close of the affair a light lunch was served.

MANY DOG OWNERS TO ENTER KENTON TRIALS

Nominations for Leafy Oak Coonhound Event Close May 30

In addition the winner of the event is to receive the degree of national champion and will be presented a silver trophy cup.

This is the first time that coonhound field trials have been attempted on a national basis and the coming event is attracting widespread attention. Offices of the Leafy Oak management here are being flooded with letters seeking details of the meet, entering their dogs or announcing that a group of dog fanciers from various sections are planning to attend as a delegation.

"Judging from the rate at which entries are coming in now," H. J. Pfeiffer, one of the sponsors of the meet said, "the trials will be one of the outstanding sport events of the year. An unprecedented number of entries seems likely while a record crowd of spectators is practically assured."

105 GRADUATES GET DIPLOMAS AT KENTON HIGH

Annual Commencement Exercises Are Addressed by O. T. Corson, Oxford

Kenton, May 26—Reverence for God, law, the home, church, school and government, was the theme of the address delivered by O. T. Corson, Oxford, last night at annual commencement exercises of the Kenton High School when 105 seniors received certificates of graduation.

Parents and school patrons filled Grand Theater to capacity for the services, the most elaborate in the history of the school.

"Commencement is a time for congratulations," said Mr. Corson. "It also presents the greatest challenge to the graduates and to all to dedicate themselves to the ideals that are fundamental to character, society, home church and government—the ideals of reverence, obedience and industry."

Remain True, Advise

Remain true to these ideals and you will become a power, the speaker said. No man will rise higher who jeers at things sacred and revered and where there is reverence there is obedience. Pointing out the growing disrespect for law prevalent in every section of the country and endangering the American system of organized government, the speaker pleaded with the graduates to pledge themselves to revere and obey the laws and not to tolerate violations.

"Let reverence and obedience be the political religion for America," Mr. Corson said. "Without these ideals then organized units of society will deteriorate and crumble."

There is a place for everyone who is willing to work Mr. Corson said as he urged the graduate to dedicate himself to the saving grace of work. "Work always is a blessing; idleness a curse."

Musical numbers of the program in charge of Supt. D. B. Clark as chairman, were presented by Elizabeth Pfeiffer, Dorothy Combs, Ruth White, Orpha Hoppe, Eleanor Morgenroth, Olive Bush, Dorothy Wolf, Gerald Garver, Austin Koch and Bain Reams, with Miss Norma Duncan playing the piano accompaniment. They sang as a mixed group, girls' sextet and girls' quartet.

Appreciation and best wishes of the faculty were spoken to the graduates by J. E. Bohn, principal, who turned the class over to J. W. Ditman, member of the board of education, for presentation of diplomas. The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. E. E. Naragon, pastor of the First Reformed Church.

Pageant Replaces Usual Commencement Exercises at Marysville High School

Program Arranged for Forty-Eighth Annual Graduation To Be Given Tonight Similar to That of Last Year; Honor Students Named

Marysville, May 26—The forty-eighth annual commencement of the Marysville high school will be held tonight in the City Opera House. The program arranged for this year is similar to that of last year in that the pageant, "The Gate Way" will be given instead of the usual commencement address.

The doors of the opera house were thrown open to the public for the last dress rehearsal last night in order that those who were not fortunate to receive a ticket from a graduate might also enjoy the program.

The program will be opened with a processional selection, "Pomp and Circumstance," (Elgar) by Mrs. Paris Outland, Miss Margaret Southard and Miss Marion Lehne. This will be followed by a violin solo, "Guitarra" Moszowski, by Miss Marion Lehne, with Mrs. Paris Outland as accompanist.

The pageant "The Gate Way" is arranged by Walter Bissel and the story portrayed is as follows with the names of those in the cast:

Story of Pageant

The Spirit of School, Grandis Haggard, leading the graduate, arrives at the Gateway of the City on the Hill which men call Life Here School summons Health, Understanding, Appreciation, and Expression, (Margaret Otte, Burr Simpson, Katherine Southard, and Elsie Meddles) who are the companions of Graduate as she is going among the Hill Dwellers. Presently Service (Robert Spurrier) comes forth from the City to unfold to the graduate the five pursuits, showing her Labor, Agriculture, Commerce, Profession and Home-making (William Klesher, Sara Hoopes, Malcolm Roley and Professions by Ralph Scheiderer, Walter Crothers and Vugima Lent and Home making by Mary Sanders, Clayton Simpson and Constance Rupright).

Finally comes Character, (Jean Hoopes) whose glory is the everlasting goal of the Hill Dwellers. She descends from the City to lead her handmaidens, Courage, Loyalty, Truth, Purity, Faith, Aspiration, Love (Helen Williams, Louise Beck, Lois Calloway, Doris Brooks, Thelma Crandell and Ivolee Burns), in the worshipful dance of the virtues.

All at length pass on to the City except the Graduate, who tarries a moment to bid good-bye to the Spirit of School, who has thrown off her mantle of authority to appear as a kind mother. As Alma Mater turns back along the path she came, Graduate leads her Companions, the Class through the Gateway of the City on the Hill.

Following the pageant J. M. Lentz president of the Board of Education will present the diplomas.

Highest honors in the class went to Lloyd Boggs, who completed his high school course in three years. The American Legion Athletic-Scholarship medal which is given to the student who ranks highest in both school work and Athletics each year was awarded to Frederick Scheiderer. Honor students who received Kiwanis Scholarship pins were Edwin C. Asman, Mary K. Belville, Norma K. Brown, Mary Anabel Forry, Marian Avis Gamble, Jean L. Graham, Ruth M. Griffith, Elizabeth L. Huston, John M. Lentz, Robert L. Orahood, Corra Belle Sink, Bernice J. Stubbs and Hall J. Yarrington.

Plan to Handle Thousands at Memorial Services in Cemetery

URIAL GROUND IPROVED SINCE ITES IN 1926

Gateway Among Most ...ble Beautification Pro...cts During Last Year

Memorial Day near at hand, ...eparations are being made at ...cemetery for the thousands of ...o assemble there for the an...remonies.

...cemetery grounds, generally ...as being among the most ...n the country, will be more ...than ever this year as the ...mprovement work which has ...gress.

...the most notable improve... ...de during the last year is the ...way constructed at the main ...to the north, leading off ...ay. Replacing the old iron ...e which stood through many years, it greatly enhances the exterior view and harmonizes admirably with the almost matchless beauty of the grounds within.

Work Completed

Final work on the gateway was completed this week with rounding off of the curbings and widening of driveway entrance.

The new gate is more than double the width of the old iron structure. Its massive pillars are of brown limestone, donated to the Marion Cemetery Association by S. E. Barlow, with a white stone cap on each pillar. The masonry work was done under the direction of John Baldauf & Son, local contracting firm.

Completion of the artistically designed entrance remedies what was practically the only flaw in Marion's burial ground and more firmly establishes it as probably the most beautiful cemetery to be found in any community of this size in Ohio.

Although the cemetery has been accorded this distinction for many years, it was not until comparatively recent years that it acquired note beyond this part of Ohio.

Many Tourists Visit

Since the death of President Harding, many thousands of tourists have visited the cemetery and all have marvelled at its beauty.

It is a matter of record that Marion Cemetery has one of the three largest varieties of trees in the country. The two which surpass the display here are said to be in parks at St. Louis, Mo. and Rochester, N. Y.

This is one of the few cemeteries in Ohio not maintained for profit. All revenue received from the sale of lots and other sources goes into the treasury of the cemetery association for maintenance and improvement of the grounds. As a result of careful and capable management which has been in charge of prominent local business men ever since the cemetery association was organized there is a large reserve surplus in its funds, providing an absolute guarantee of future stability.

Officers of Company

Officers of the Marion Cemetery Association have always served without pay and have invariably devoted much time and attention to their duties. Present officers are D. R. Crissinger, president; C. D. Schaffner, vice president; H. J. Messner, secretary and treasurer; J. G. Leffler, E. K. Uhler and C. C. Fisher, trustee.

Members of the association at this time, in addition to the officers, are H. B. Hane, J. D. Owens, H. A. True, C. N. Phillips, J. F. Dombaugh, S. E. Barlow, G. J. King, L. D. Zachman, Homer R. Waddell, O. E. Kennedy, Ray R. King, J. H. Bartram, Edmund Keller and Dr. C. W. Sawyer.

E. A. Sloan is superintendent and has full charge of the management. The first superintendent was H. I. Kessler, who served from 1873 until his death in 1880. Others serving in that capacity up until the time of Mr. Sloan's employment were A. B. Allen, John Dairy, John Wilson and F. J. Van Horne.

Organized in 1857

The Marion Cemetery Association was organized July 3, 1857, as the result of agitation in favor of the project which had its start in articles published in the Independent, one of Marion's pioneer weekly newspapers, the author of which was a writer who used the nom de plume of Israel Fish bones.

In graphic style this anonymous writer called attention to the unsuitable location of the old cemetery, the site of which was north of the railroads and in the vicinity of a neighborhood where saloons operated. He pictured funerals delayed by passing trains and also depicted scenes in the saloons in which men were being placed in condition for interment in the cemetery.

The meeting was held at the banking house of J. S. Reed & Co. and these persons and firms signed the original articles: John Ault, J. S. Reed, S. S. Bennett, H. A. True, J. J. Williams, B. H. Williams, Patten & Wallace, John Ballentine, J. B. Dumble, F. Peters, J. W. Bain, Bowen & Beerbower, J. H. Golman and W. H. Serles.

Then followed years of difficulties and adversities during which the members contributed funds gratuitously to keep the project alive. It ran up against obstacles which confront the average new venture, no matter how meritorious it may be. Many persons believed that it was only a speculation entered into for gain and though invited to join, held aloof for want of proper information.

Clears Debt

The struggle continued until 1873 when the association became clear of debt and employed its first superintendent.

In that year grounds for the cemetery were selected after thorough investigation in which soil was tested and other experiments made to be sure that the site would be suitable for burial purposes.

There were 58 acres in the original plat and this has been increased to the present 88 acres.

Dedication ceremonies took place on Nov. 4, 1858, with Rev. E. B. Raffensperger, D. D., of Bellefontaine, later a pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, giving the principal address.

In 1873, soon after the association was free from debt, a resolution was passed providing that 10 per cent of all money received from sale of lots should be set aside and put on interest, the proceeds to be applied to keep the unsold grounds belonging to the association in proper condition for all future time.

It was this first step toward financial strength and stability which brought the cemetery association to its present prosperous condition.

HOOVER AGAIN DIRECTS REFUGEE CONCENTRATION

Boats Bring Hundreds of Flood Exiles Hourly to Relief Camps

Baton Rouge, La., May 26.—After three days devoted to perfecting organization of the reconstruction machinery in Mississippi and Arkansas, Secretary of Commerce Hoover returned to Louisiana relief headquarters today to assume direction of the refugee concentration from the rapidly disappearing parishes of Point Coupee and West Baton Rouge.

Boats of every description bringing hundreds of flood exiles hourly to the Red Cross and National guard camps here since the opening of the east Atchafalaya crevass at McCrea last Saturday have made the state capital one of the largest concentration points in the flooded area of the lower valley.

More than 6,000 homeless were encamped here when Secretary Hoover arrived this morning from Little Rock. Preparations have been made for a minimum of 10,000 refugees in the Baton Rouge area. Between 4,000 and 6,000 will be cared for in the picturesque surroundings of the old university campus, a mile north of the state house. Army tents for about 2,000 more are spread in a city park a mile to the west.

Waters sweeping down the Pointe Coupee peninsula from the McCrea break had reached the northern boundary of West Baton Rouge Parish, the last dry spot in the 200 mile stretch of Central Louisiana between the Mississippi and the western edge of the 30 mile inland sea smothering some 5,000 square miles of the state from the Arkansas border to the Gulf of Mexico.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. MINERVA E. FOOS

Funeral services for Mrs. Minerva E. Foos, wife of Hiram Foos, who died Monday at her home, five points on the Harding Highway, were held there at 1 o'clock this afternoon and at 2 o'clock at Epworth M. E. Church. Dr. B. L. George, pastor of the church, and Reverend Green officiated and interment was in Marion Mausoleum.

FIREMEN CALLED WHEN BLAZE THREATENS TOTS

When Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rutherford, 538 Cherry st., went uptown last night they left the children at home. About 9:15 o'clock the house grew chilly and the children deciding they would have a little heat, lighted the gas in a small stove. This would have been perfectly all right except that they forgot to remove a number of papers which had been piled on top of the stove. In a short time very frightened children called the central fire station. Firemen found the burning papers. No damage resulted.

UNABLE TO SAY WHAT IS BEST AVIATION AGE

"Lindy" Is 25, but Anderson Boy Is 15, and Dickinson Is Sixty

New York, May 26—What is the best flying age?

This question has been brought up in aviation circles by the thrilling achievement of Capt. Charles Lindbergh, the "kid" flier who made a non-stop jump from New York to Paris.

"Lindy" is 25.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, who flew over the north pole, and who may attempt the New York-to-Paris flight, is 39.

Farnam Parker of Anderson, Ind., rated as one of the best exhibition pilots in the country, is only 15.

When pilots went on strike recently, Charles Dickinson, 60, air mail contractor, flew the Chicago-Minneapolis route for three days.

Murray Dilley of Kansas City, and Byron Woods, of San Diego, both "solo" pilots, are only 17. James Stewart and John Wagner of New York City and Nathan Quinn of Garden City, N. Y., are all under 18.

Priest Is 60

But Capt. Hugh L. Willoughby, pioneer aviator of Newport, R. I., is over 60, and still loves to skim through the clouds.

And recent reports had it that Rev. Father Hussman of St. Louis was taking flying instruction. He is 60.

Igor Sikorsky, noted aeronautical engineer, taught himself to fly at 16.

Art Smith, mail pilot, recently killed, was a crack flier as a boy.

During the war many air squadrons, on both sides, boasted of "aces" who were 20 years or under. Captain Hall, England's great air hero, was but 19 when he was killed in combat after having destroyed about 40 enemy planes and Captain Von Richtofen, the outstanding German ace, was but 20 when he was brought down.

Historical Legends Are Punctured by Admiral Sims

U. S. May Scrap When It Gets in Fight, but Not Becauuse of Training

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 26—Rear Admiral William S. Sims made a speech at Norristown, (Pa.) the other day.

His theme was national defense—our lack of any.

ADMIRAL SIMS

The Narragansett Bay war games had just been concluded at the time—with a glorious victory for the land forces which had theoretically beaten off the enemy navy.

Yes, Sims is agreed, the United States might be able to drive back a hostile fleet which had promised in advance to consider itself beaten, unless it captured the American coast on a certain date at a specified hour.

The point he raised was that you couldn't persuade a hostile fleet to make such a promise—or to keep it, at any rate.

WAR games generally come out the way it's desired to have them come out, Sims strongly intimated.

So does "popular history," he added.

It wouldn't be so "popular," the old sea dog remarked, if historians told more about what actually happened.

Then he proceeded to puncture some popularly historical legends.

Among other things, he declared George Washington had had a scandulously difficult time of it—to read about it, anybody'd imagine he experienced one uninterrupted round of victories, but in reality he squeaked through by the narrowest kind of narrow margins—simply because the folk of his time refused to take seriously the difficulties he was up against.

HIS talk concluded, the reception committee took the admiral out to look over the historic camping ground of Valley Forge, where even "popular" chroniclers admit Gen. Washington put in a mighty tough winter.

Sims examined every foot of the ground minutely.

He heard all about the soldiers' frozen feet, their ragged uniforms, the paucity of food, and nodded grimly at every item of information.

It all went to prove, as he summed it up, in conclusion, that the United States may win when it gets into a fight, but if it does, it does it by main strength, and never by virtue of going into it trained to the minute.

THE admiral visited Norristown to get a medal voted to him by the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, a branch of the national organization of which his own Huguenot descent makes him a member.

He discussed national defense because that's what he always discusses, when he discusses anything.

Nobody can accuse him of being a pacifist. He's a militant old man, if there's one in the country and he looks it—very tall and erect, without an ounce of superfluous flesh on him and a set of bristling white whiskers, trimmed to a bayonet point at every angle where toy can be trained into one.

A VISIT to Valley Forge is a natural sequel to a visit to Norristown. It's right in the city's outskirts.

But the funny part of it—

The admiral was the only man who forgot to take off his hat when the chimes played The Star Spangled Banner in the Washington Memorial Chapel.

"William, William," admonished his wife, tugging frantically at his coattails—the admiral, of course, was in mufti—as the rest of the party uncovered reverently.

"Take off your hat"—in an urgent whisper, in reply to the admiral's look of mild inquiry.

The admiral snatched it off hastily, blushes mantling his features.

LOSES CHAUFFEUR

Donahey's Driver Pardoned by Executive on Grand Jurors' Recommendation

Columbus, May 25—Governor Donahey lost the services of his chauffeur when he pardoned Clyde Glasser, Ravenna, and Edward W. Carter, Summit County. Glasser has been serving as the governor's chauffeur. Carter will be released June 9, from the London Prison Farm, where he is a trusty.

Glasser on June 16, 1926 began serving from one to 20 years for manslaughter. He confessed to killing H. E. Puterbaugh, Cincinnati, whom he declared he found with his wife in a cottage at Brady Lake, Portage County. Recommendation for his release was signed by 15 members of the grand jury which indicted him and Prosecutor Johnson.

Carter on June 10, 1926, began a two-year sentence for arson at Kenmore. Trial Judge Fitch, Mayor Goodman and former Prosecutor Kelly signed his parole recommendation.

FOUR YOUTHS SIGN FOR MILITARY CAMP WORK

Officials in Charge Here Hope To More Than Double Quota

Hopes of more than doubling Marion's quota to the Citizens Military Training Camp brightened today when it was announced that four youths had been signed up and several others are planning to join within a few days. The quota for the county is nine.

Those who have already signed for the camp are Richard Walker, 461 Have-av; Earl Howison, 252 Forest-st, Herman Leroy Fischer and Albert Allsworth Fischer, both of 749 York-st.

Dr. James W. McMurray, who is assisting E. H. Shade, Marion County chairman, in the work of obtaining enrollments, said today that all boys who wish to take the training should report within the next three weeks. Army officers in Columbus have voted to cooperate with those in charge of the work here in boosting Marion County's quota, according to Dr. McMurray.

Play Seven Contests in Sunday School Leagues

Wesley M. E. Nine Trims Epworth Seniors; Calvary No. 1 Defeats St. Mary's

Epworth No. 1 Triumphs Over Central Christian, While Presbyterian No. 1 Scores Victory Over Forest Lawn; Three Teams Head League

CALVARY No. 1, Wesley M. E., Epworth No. 1 are perched on top of the first Sunday School league today, following victories in the postponed games played off last night. Presbyterian No. 1 was the other winner.

Calvary won its second game when it topped St. Mary's, 6 to 5. St. Mary's staged a great rally in the first of the sixth inning but was still one point behind when the Calvary outfit settled down. Calvary scored two in the second inning, one each in the third and fourth, and two more in the fifth. St. Mary's made two in the fifth and three in the sixth.

Messenger, pitching for Calvary, allowed only six hits while Frericke of the St. Mary's nine gave seven. W. Baldauf of Calvary and John Merkel of St. Mary's led with the stick.

Wesley M. E. Wins

Wesley M. E. copped its second victory of the season when it downed the Epworth Seniors in a hard-fought game. Rice was the losing pitcher, Corwin doing the mound work for the winners. Wesley scored two runs in the second frame but was held scoreless during the remainder of the contest.

Epworth No. 1 had little difficulty with the Central Christians last night. They won 10 to 2. Burson was winning pitcher while Roscoe Rank acted as moundsman for the Central Christians.

Presbyterian No. 1 won its first contest of the season last night, when it triumphed over Forest Lawn, 7 to 1. Although it received only six hits, the Presbyetrian nine was greatly aided by six errors on the part of Forest Lawn. McAnnich, pitching for the Presbyterians, allowed only three hits. Lattimore and Walker were the Forest Lawn batteries.

RING SET FOR FOURTH BOXING SHOW FRIDAY

Irvin Grace of Columbus, To Meet Tommy Lane of Toledo

Main Go
Irvin Grace of Columbus vs. Tommy Lane of Toledo, 128 pounds, eight rounds.

Semi-Final
Clyde Tremaine of Columbus vs. Lew Adair of Toledo, 124 pounds, six rounds.

Preliminary
Lester Sutton of Findlay vs. Tony Lombard of Toledo, 132 pounds, six rounds.

Curtain Raiser
Ray Schneider of Marion vs. Bobby Watts of Columbus, 132 pounds, four rounds.

THAT'S the program for the fourth boxing show of the Eagles, to be held at 8:15, Friday night, on the third floor of the Eagles' Temple, corner Orchard and Center st.

Irvin Grace needs no introduction to local fans. He was one of the principals in the best fight of the year here a few weeks ago when he and Ray Newton battled to a draw. Tommy Lane, Grace's opponent, is not so well-known in this vicinity, but is classed as a terror in boxing circles of lower Michigan and northwestern Ohio. Most of his fights so far have ended with knockouts, Lane doing the K. O. work.

Clyde Tremaine appeared here in the first show to be staged at the Eagles' Temple, taking on Ray Newton as his opponent at the time. He will have a tough customer on his hands Friday when he stacks up against Lew Adair of Toledo.

Sutton and Lombardo come here with excellent reputations and careers that read along similar lines. They are booked to be evenly matched.

Ray Schneider, the Marion whirlwind who made his debut in the local ring a few weeks ago, will again be on hand for the curtain raiser, having as his opponent, Bobby Watts of Columbus.

The Eagles have all new equipment and all facilities to handle large crowds. The Orchard-st entrance should be used at the Temple. The boxing matches are open to the public.

Lutherans Head Second League With Three Wins; Trinity Baptists Win Two

Calvary No. 2-First Reformed Clash Called on Account of Rain in Fourth Inning; Presbyterians No. 2 Defeat Epworth No. 2; United Brethren Again Lose

LUTHERANS, Presbyterians No. 2 and Trinity Baptists were winners last night in the postponed Sunday School recreational ball games of the second league. The Calvary No. 2-First Reformed clash was called at the end of the fourth because of rain.

The Lutherans now head the league with three victories and no defeats, having played one more game than the other teams. They defeated the United Brethren last night in one of the best games of the season. With their opponents leading 4 to 1 in the fourth frame, the Lutherans staged a rally and scored four runs in that inning. Four more crossed the plate in the fifth. The final count was 9 to 4.

Niemeyer On Mound

Niemeyer was on the mound for the winners with Thabaut catching. Zuspan and Noble were the losing batteries.

Trinity Baptists are on the heels of the leaders with two victories and no defeats. They walloped the Lee-st Presbyterians, 11 to 4, last night on the Pollak diamond. Jones and Chenoweth were the winning batteries. Burke pitched for the Presbyterians.

Epworth No. 2 met its second defeat of the season last night at the hands of the Presbyterian No. 2 nine. The score was 6 to 4. Epworth was unable to score until the last inning, when it counted four tallies before the Presbyterians could stop the rally. The latter team scored one each in the third and fouth and fourth and fifth.

Presbyterian Batteries

Walker and Anderson were Presbyterian batteries and Knapp and Wolf held those positions for the Epworth team.

Calvary No. 2 has played but one game this year, due to the postponement of the contest last night. First Reformed, however, completed the game with the Lutherans Tuesday night in spite of the rain and is now only one game behind, although the contest with Calvary was called last night.

No box scores were turned in. Here are other scores:

Lutherans .... 001 440 x—9
United Brethren ...... 310 000 0—4

Batteries—Niemeyer and Thabaut; Zuspan and Noble.

Presby. No. 2 .... 001 140—6

Furthermore, Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess Mahon, will leave here tomorrow on a mysterious trip which it is believed will take them to Philadelphia.

Dempsey in Old Timers' Ranks Since Sudden Rise of Sharkey, Says Tunney

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, May 26—Jack Dempsey has been relegated to the ranks of the old timers through Sharkey's rise to sudden prominence, Gene Tunney declared in a statement to the writer today, hard upon his scheduled departure for a season of only training at Spectator, N. Y. He further intimated that, in his opinion, the knockout of Maloney by Sharkey has rendered Dempsey's proposed return to the ring a matter of comparative unimportance.

"It really doesn't make so much difference to boxing now whether Dempsey returns or not," the champion declared. "If he decides to retire we will have one of the most eligible of challengers contending for the title and the game will not be the worse for Dempsey remaining in California.

"He has ceased to be a prime factor in the success of the heavyweight tournament. In fact Sharkey's great fighting has just about relegated Dempsey to the ranks of the old timers."

Makes Casual Statements

Tunney made his statements quite casually and with apparent unconcern for the fact that they dealt with a man who at this time last year was regarded as the greatest heavyweight champion the world had known. or something. It seemed possible that Dempsey's reputed statement, since denied, that Sharkey would knock out Tunney may have rankled in the champion's mind.

However, he was willing to admit that a Dempsey come back would leave no doubt as to the identity of the best challenger available.

"Jack is a great hitter and a great hitter always has a chance," Tunney added. "Dempsey will be dangerous every moment he is in the ring. But Sharkey will be dangerous, too, and don't forget he is young and fast and a smart fighter. That's a great combination to tie to."

Takes Three With Him

Tunney will take only Eddie Eagan, former intercollegiate heavyweight champion while at Yale, Frank Muskie of St. Paul, and Lou Fink, his trainer, with him when he leaves town Friday. It may be a week before he settled down to boxing, he said. In fact, he indicated that he would box only occasionally.

"Just to keep my eye in," he explained. But when he settled down to the serious grind of championship preparation it will be boxing, boxing, boxing all the way. He doesn't hesitate to say that he plans to match speed with speed against Sharkey, the connotation thus sharing the common impression that it will be the 24-year-old and not the 23-year-old Jack who will be the ultimate contender.

"It is too early to make even tentative plans for such a fight," Tunney said in parting. "But, in meeting a man like Sharkey, you must outspeed him or you are lost. That would be the only course open to me."

POORMAN NINE PLAYS GALION OVER WEEK-END

Local Baseball Crew Will Open at Seccaium Park Sunday

POORMAN'S Garage nine of this city will play the Galion Moose at Seccaium Park, east of Bucyrus, Sunday and Decoration Day, it was announced today.

The local team will assist in opening the park at that time. Sunday will mark the opening of the summer season for the park and a number of special events have been arranged.

The Marion outfit has played only one game this season, meeting defeat a few weeks ago at the hands of the Lauer Tailors of Prospect, playing the game at Prospect. A number of other games have been booked for dates following Memorial Day.

The Galion Moose team is one of the best in neighboring cities and will be a tough customer for the Marion lads. Poorman's nine has been holding regular practice sessions, however, and is ready for the worst of 'em.

The lineup to be used by the local crew is not yet known but will be announced Friday.

PIRATES, WHITE SOX, FURNISH FIREWORKS

Bugs Stretch Winning Streak to Seven Consecutive Games

New York, May 26—Pirates and White Sox are furnishing the fireworks in the pennant races today. The bucs have strengthened their winning streak to seven straight while the Sox, defying the experts, are rushing to the front in seven league boots in the American League as the Yankees are held idle by rain.

The White Sox took the St. Louis Browns over the rapids twice yesterday by scores of 14 to 8 and 1 to 0, pushing the Brownies all the way from third place to fifth. Although the Sox made only three hits off Ballou and Zachary in the nightcap while Ted Lyons was touched for five bingles, a wild throw gave them the verdict. Chicago now trails the Yankees by only two games.

Reds Lose

Carl Mays of the Reds held the Pirates to five hits but the Cousins won 2 to 0, with Carmen Hill turning in his third brilliant performance since he heard rumors that he was to be shipped back to the sticks. The Pirates increased their lead to a game and a half.

Alexander the Great beat the Cubs, his former team, 8 to 5, with the aid of a homer by Bell with the bases loaded, but the Cardinals lost the nightcap 8 to 4. The Cubs and the Giants are now tied for second place.

Cleveland regained sixth place from Detroit by outslugging the Tigers, 9 to 6. Hankins, Detroit rookie twirler, proved he could take it by staying in the box until Cleveland had scored eight runs.

ANOTHER WEST COAST TRIUMPH PREDICTED IN INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Hundreds of Athletes from East, Middle West and Pacific Coast Prepare for Annual Event at Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday

PHILADELPHIA, May 26—Another West coast triumph seemed to be ordained today as hundreds of college athletes from the East, Middle West and California prepared to go through their final tuning up paces for the annual championship track and field games of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. The meet will get under way tomorrow on what promises to be a heavy track with a series of trials in every championship event except those at one and two miles. The finals will be held on Saturday.

Since far back in the last century, the games have taken place annually and for years the championship title was preserved exclusively for the East.

But that time is no more. Only once in the last six years an Eastern college has won the championship and by Saturday it is due to go West again to the trophy rooms of Stanford University at Palo Alto. If he doesn't, it almost surely will ride home with the University of Southern California team, the 1926 champions.

However, the Cardinals, pioneers among the coast invaders, are almost prohibitive favorites to win their first title.

Will Repeat

In so doing, they will repeat the triumphs of the California Bears in 1921, 1922 and 1923 and the successive victories of Southern California in 1925 and 1926. In other words, the other California teams have had their turns; now it is Stanford's.

"Dink" Templeton has taken advantage of Southern California's loss of Houser, Dye and Grumbles, its great trinity of point getters, to produce one of the best rounded squads ever sent out by the coast. Some handicappers, indeed, are selecting Stanford to score upward of 50 points and break the record for the games.

Its stars are Spencer, the 47.3-5 quarter miler; McKinnon, the miler; Cliff Hoffman, doped to win both shot and discus events; King, the "six-six" high jumper; Kaer, the All American quarterback who figures to win the low hurdles; Nichols and West in the high hurdles; Zombro, a fine broad jumper, and Joaquin and Shipkey, javelin throwers.

Southern California, in spite of losing many stars, is the only entry figure to give the Cardinals a for the title. The Trojans brought along Charley Borah, nation sprint champion, and Lee Barnes, ner of the Olympic pole vault title. take the place of departed heroes the old balance isn't there.

At that, the Trojans would come close to winning their third champi ship if Stanford's impressive arr could be eliminated.

The Boy looked up and there, like a Jack in the box Fox had poked his head out from the very top of the tree and was trying to whisper to him."

"My, but I am glad to see you there safe and sound, Cutie," cried the Boy. "Come up? Of course, I will, but aren't you afraid that in doing so I will 'give away' your hiding place? The Dogs may see me climbing the tree."

"Nonsense. These Dogs never raise their noses from the ground once they have picked up a trail. That is one of the great reasons why they do not catch me. Hurry on up, though. It may not be long before they head this way. I think I threw them off the scent when I jumped up on the fence. They would never think I would walk on the rail. Just watch them tearing over the ground! Now they have raced off to where you and I were standing when he heard the first danger call of the pack."

Nothing else can equal as a goat-getter the experience of having the wrong people compliment you.

RAIL STOCKS SWEEP ALL BEFORE IN MOVEMENT

Speculative Demand Is Concentrated on Merger-and-Mystery Shares

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York, May 26—Railroad stocks strong; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds firm; foreign bonds steady; call money 4½ per cent; grain irregular; copper reactionary; oil weak; cotton steady; rubber steady; sugar firm; pig iron steady; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, May 26—The railroad stocks swept everything before them in their broad and aggressive forward movement in the stock market today.

While the bulk of speculative demand was concentrated in the merger-and-mystery railroad shares, including both the Nickel Plate and the southwestern (Loree) merger group, the strongest of outside buying was also in evidence in the so-called investment rails, of the type of New York Central and Atchison.

There has been a broad interest in the railroad stocks since the rejection of the southwestern merger plans by the interstate commerce commission and the assurance of L. F. Loree that he would lose no time in redrafting a plan eliminating the objectionable features. For more than a year the Nickel Plate revised plan has been in the making, and the speculative community was electrified a few weeks ago by the announcement that the Van Sweringen brothers would distribute their holdings of stock of other roads.

To effect this distribution the Chesapeake Corp. was recently formed, and it is expected that a similar organization will be created to hold the stocks of Pere Marquette, Hocking Valley, Wheeling & Lake Erie, etc.

Commission houses in Wall Street "heard from the country" today in the form of a large volume of buying orders for the railroad stocks.

LOANS up to $500

ANDY GUMP shouts "Oh Min" whenever he is in trouble. He gets himself into a tight place and can't seem to squirm out but Min always responds immediately.

The City Loan plays the role of Min for those who need help financially. Whether you need money to buy a fine team of "dappled grays" which you know is a good sound investment, or whether you want it to make a hurried trip to New York does not concern The City Loan. As long as you have a legitimate purpose you can get the money.

There are very few formalities connected with borrowing here, and fewer still after you are acquainted and your credit is established. The City Loan is the ideal financial connection for the average family.

FIRST OF MEN IN FARM THEFTS GOES ON TRIAL

James Henry, 25, Charged with Hog Stealing in Local Court

James Henry, 25, of 325 Holmes-st. went on trial in the court of common pleas this morning as an alleged member of the robber band accused of stealing livestock and other property from farms in Marion County and vicinity during the last year. Eight men are under indictment in connection with the robberies and Henry is the first to face trial.

The indictments charge all of the eight with grand larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property. Two have pleaded guilty. They will probably not be sentenced until trials of the other five, set for dates during the next 10 days, have been completed. Trial of John Kurts is scheduled for Friday.

To Take Entire Day

Henry's trial was expected to take up the entire day's session of court. Although he is alleged to have participated in other operations of the farm robbery band, the indictment names him only in connection with the theft of 25 hogs from the farm of Otis Johnson, near Agosta, on May 4. The hogs, recovered shortly after the robbery in Pike County, were valued at $250. The robber band is said to have disposed of nearly all of its loot from the numerous robberies in Pike County, a large amount of stock in addition to the Johnson hogs having been found there by Sheriff Deal and his aids.

Roy Roof and Herman Lease, Kenton attorneys, are conducting Henry's defense and the state is represented by Prosecuting Attorney Frank Wiedmann. Roof and Lease are also counsel for several of Henry's alleged accomplices.

Delinquent Tax Suit

The first suit in connection with the collection of delinquent personal taxes here by C. R. Randles of Columbus, employed under contract by the county, was started in the court of common pleas this morning with the filing of a petition asking judgment against George Orians for $36.37, the amount of a tax account alleged to be standing delinquent from the tax year 1925.

The action was started by James E. Measenger as treasurer of the county, Randles being employed as a special deputy of the treasurer.

The petition states that Orians failed to pay the taxes while acting as receiver for the Martel Equity Exchange Co. The $36.37, it is alleged, was charged against the Martel company and Orians filed his final report of the receivership without having paid the account. It is now asserted that Orians is personally liable for the amount.

Orians, it was stated today, refused to pay the account when notice was served upon him by Randles. He says that in settling up the Martel company's affairs he called at the treasurer's office to pay taxes and gave a check for the full amount of the statement handed to him.

It developed later that the $36.37 had been overlooked.

Although the county treasurer is named as plaintiff in the action, the suit was actually brought at instigation of the delinquent personal tax collector, Randles. His attorney is George L. Geran.

Orians was appointed receiver for the Martel Equity Exchange Co. on May 27, 1926.

Appointment

Appointment of Minerva J. Stull as executrix of the estate of Reuben F. Stull was made in probate court today.

Ask Sale of Auto

Charging that F. P. McLead transferred ownership of his Ford sedan to his wife, Lada B. McLead, to defraud creditors, Altha Roof filed suit in the court of common pleas, yesterday, asking that the transfer be set aside and the automobile sold under court order.

Roof represents that he holds a claim of $838.60 against McLead and he asks that proceeds from sale of the Ford be applied to payment of the obligation.

Roof states that he obtained judgment against McLead in the Franklin County Common Pleas court for the $838.60 and on April 27 caused an execution to be levied by the sheriff of Marion County. Two days later, April 29, the petition states, McLead filed a bill of sale transferring the Ford sedan to his wife.

Answer Filed

R. C. McClelland, administrator of the estate of William McClelland, filed answer in the court of common pleas, yesterday, in the suit brought by R. J. Coffey in which the plaintiff asked judgment on a $900 promissory note.

Coffey named O. O. McClelland and R. C. McClelland, administrator of the William McClelland estate, as defendants. The plaintiff alleged that the note was signed by O. O. and William McClelland and that the latter died before any payments were made.

In his answer the administrator states that William McClelland signed the note merely as surety and he asks that in the event judgment is rendered that his liability be fixed on that basis.

The administrator says that the note was presented to him and that he rejected it on the grounds that it is not a valid claim against the estate.

John H. Clark is attorney for the answering defendant.

Judgment Set Aside

Judgment was set aside and proceedings in aid of execution dismissed by Judge Swofield, yesterday, in a suit on account brought by the Credit Loan & Discount Co against Thomas Ballinger, a minor.
